Rachel Alatalo Commended by National Merit Scholarship Program

By JON BISHOP
Crier Correspondent

WILMINGTON—Rachel Alatalo, a senior at Wilmington High School, is a girl of many talents. She's a writer, an athlete, and an excellent student. She's received many accolades, including the Harvard Book Award and two Gold Keys from the 2013 Boston Globe Scholastic Arts and Writing Awards. And now she can add something else to that ever-growing list: a commendation from both Wilmington High School and the National Merit Scholarship Program.

According to a statement issued by the school, Superintendent Joanne Benton presented a letter announcing the commendation to Alatalo last Wednesday.

In addition to her, 34,000 students will receive recognition for their exceptional academic promise. The National Merit Scholarship Corporation scoured the scores of the 1.5 million students who took the PSATs and found those who placed in the top five percent.

"The young men and women being named commended students have demonstrated outstanding

Marathon Bombings

Tsarnaev will face local court for Collier killing

By JAYNE W. MILLER
News Editor

WILMINGTON/WOBURN — Nearly six months has gone by since the bombings of the Boston Marathon, the killing of MIT Police Officer and Wilmington native Sean Collier, and the injury of other officers in a shootout on the streets of Watertown. The Middlesex District Attorney Marian Ryan this week took another step to ensure that Dzhokhar Tsarnaev faces local charges for his alleged crimes.

On Monday the District Attorney's office sought, and received, the issuance of a default warrant, a procedural measure that ensures Tsarnaev, 20, of Cambridge, will face arraignment on the local charges in Superior court, though likely after his federal trial.

Neither Tsarnaev nor his attorney attended the hearing at Middlesex Superior Courthouse at 200 Trade Center in Woburn.

Tsarnaev was indicted June 27, 2013 by a Middlesex Grand Jury on charges of murder, attempted armed robbery, armed assault with intent to murder (four counts), assault with a dangerous weapon (four

Fire Prevention Week

Candles, Carbon Monoxide, Cooking Can you identify fire hazards in your home?

By SHARON
ADELMAN CROWLEY
Crier Correspondent

WILMINGTON -October 6 - 12 is Fire Prevention Week, a national awareness campaign promoting fire prevention and public safety. This week commemorates the Great Chicago Fire of 1871 which burned more than 2,000 acres. Over 17,000 structures were destroyed, leaving 100,000 people homeless.

The National Fire Protection Association

(NFPA) sponsors Fire Prevention Week, providing education on a specific theme. This year, the non-profit organization's campaign aims to prevent kitchen fires.

According to the NFPA website, "The kitchen is the leading area of origin for home fires and most kitchen fires are caused by cooking. On average, there are roughly 3,000 reported kitchen fires per day in the United States."

NFPA offers fire safety tips such as, be alert when using the stove, "keep an eye on what you fry", turn the stove off when leaving the kitchen, or use a timer as a reminder that the stove is in use. Also be sure to keep flammable items such as oven mitts, wooden utensils, towels, or curtains away from the stove.

Fire safety awareness in the Wilmington is led by Lt. Daniel Hurley, Jr. Now through next week, he will visit seven schools in Wilmington as part of the Student Awareness of Fire Education (S.A.F.E.) Program, sponsored by State Fire Marshal, Stephen D. Coan. The program provides resources and grants to the community for coloring books, pencils, and learning tools with safety tips, Hurley told the Crier.

Tips from Hurley include:

- The importance of having two exits from the home during an emergency such as a fire.
- Crawl under smoke.
- Stop, drop, and roll if your clothing catches on fire.

Sarah DJ Carter Lecture 'Stomping' to Wilmington

By JON BISHOP
Crier Correspondent

WILMINGTON—The Sarah DJ Carter Lecture Fund will present the Squeezebox Stompers at the Wilmington Middle School on October 25. Doors open at 6:30 p.m., and the event starts at 9. Admission is free.

The Stompers, according to a statement from Julia Doten, a member of the Carter Committee, "play a Louisiana sound that will have you believing you are walking through the French Quarter of New Orleans."

Their music shows Cajun, Zydeco, Celtic, Country, Blues, and Jazz influences. Instruments include the accordion, guitar, fiddle, mandolin, bass and drums. They play Cajun waltzes, delta blues, hoedowns, swamp ballads, in addition to original work.

The Stompers are Ralph Tufo, Larry Plitt, John, Mike Migliozi, and Pablito, who is described on the band website as a "musical adventurer."

"Together, these five talented musicians plan to give us a rousing time," Doten wrote.

According to an article previously published in the Crier, Sarah Carter was a Wilmington resident who, upon her death in 1907, donated $6,000 to the town. Her will "stated that the endowment fund is to be used in perpetuity '...in trust to invest the principal sum, and to expend the income in maintain courses of lectures for the benefit of the people of Wilmington.'"

Doten, in an article written for the Crier last year, said that "Sarah Jaquith married Cyrus Carter in 1874, and the couple did not have any children. Widowed early, the independent Sarah became an astute businesswoman, frugally saving $6,000."

Last year's concert featured the Jolly Rogues.

potential for academic success," said a spokesman for the NMSC. "These students represent a valuable national resource. Recognizing their accomplishments, as well as the key role their schools play in their academic development, is vital to the advancement of educational excellence in our nation. We hope this recognition will help broaden their education opportunities and encourage them as they continue their pursuit of academic success."

Linda Peters, principal of Wilmington High School, said she was pleased.

"We haven't had a commended scholar since [the class of 2010]," she said. "We're very pleased to have someone this year."

Added Peters: "It's quite an honor."

David Alatalo, Rachel's father, agreed.

"We got a letter in the mail about two or three weeks ago," he said. "We were pleased. She works very hard at her schoolwork."

He said that she hopes to study writing in college.

By LARZ F. NEILSON
Editor Emeritus

WILMINGTON - A new twist has emerged in the 79-year old Kelley Hill murder. The story of the murder has been published several times in the Town Crier, from a Wilmington perspective.

The new information comes from a magazine article by John S. Thorp in Intimate Detective Stories published in 1939, five years after the murder. It tells the story of the state police work in solving the case, and the people involved. The article was found recently by Paul Chalifour, who also found an on-line copy of a court denial of an appeal in the case.

The murder of Luigi Girgo took place on the afternoon of Oct. 3, 1934, off Shawsheen Avenue, on Kelley Hill. Girgo, a cook in Boston, 30 years old, was found face down, bludgeoned and shot twice. He was taken to Tewksbury Hospital in Wilmington's new ambulance, but was dead on arrival.

The murder took place in a small field, in an area with a lot of scrub brush and small trees, near the town water tower. Police found a gold watch about 25 feet away. Up the hill, in a line from the body past the watch, was a small cabin on Nassau Avenue. The cabin was owned by Orris Ventura of East Boston.

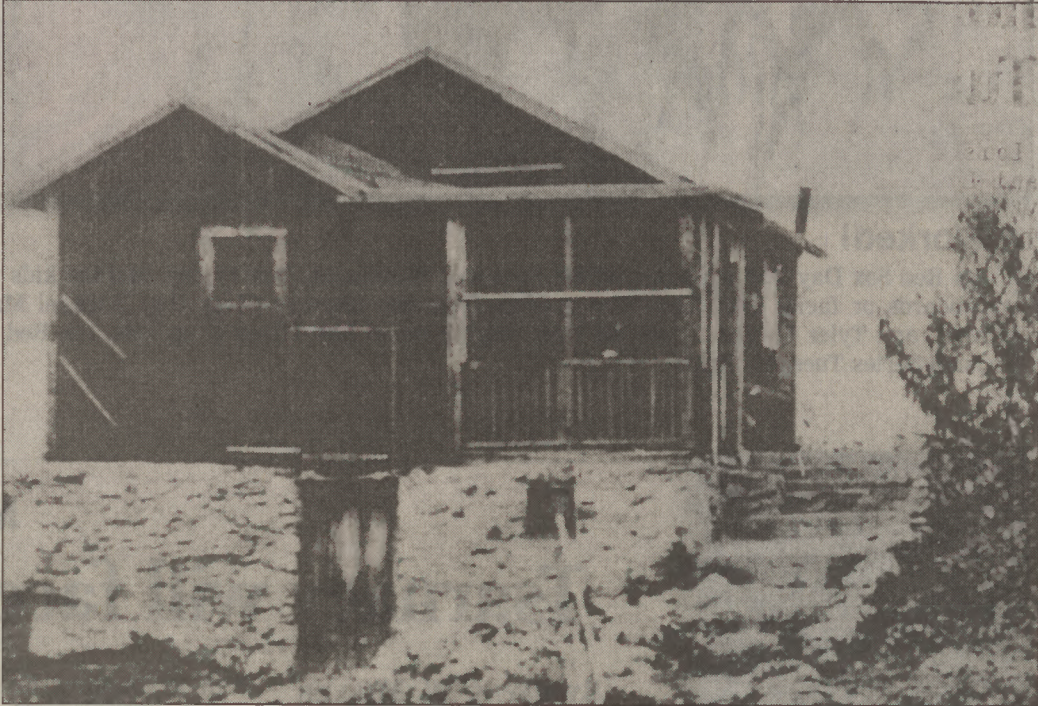

In the cabin, police found a hangman's noose suspended from a beam, over a trap door. Nearby was a table with five pairs of gloves and a set of pincers.

While nobody saw the murder take place, there were several witnesses who saw four men go up Kelley Hill. A few minutes later, two more men followed. One of them was to become the victim. Very soon, two shots rang out, and then the other men were seen leaving.

Gus Cuoco, then 17, found Girgo on the ground and called police. It was 3:30 p.m. Chief Harry Ainsworth commandeered Fred Mosher's car and drove to the scene with Mosher and Robert Pulsifer, a reporter for the Wilmington News. On the way, they passed three men walking down Shawsheen Avenue.

After finding the victim, the chief stayed on the scene, while Mosher, Pulsifer and John Howe returned to the police station. Pulsifer called the state police and other departments, while Howe and Norman Rice took the ambulance to the scene.

A key witness in the investigation was Louie Elfman, who owned a gas station on Main Street. He said that four men had come into the station at 2:30 p.m. in a 1931 Auburn. They bought gas and then asked Louie to check the brakes on the car. They left on foot and walked over the Shawsheen Avenue

Ventura, Aniello Orlando, James Penta, Angelo DeVito and Angelo Cadero were indicted for the murder.

In January 1935, four men were convicted of second-degree murder and given life sentences. Cadero was captured later and convicted of manslaughter and sentenced to 10-15 years in prison.

There are a few versions of the story. This writer has a scrapbook with newspaper clippings from time of the murder. Probably one of them is from the Wilmington News, and another may be from a Lowell paper. Then there is a 1960 story published in the Town Crier, based on the memory of former Police Chief Harry Ainsworth. There is the 1939 magazine article from Intimate Detective. And there is the court record from the appeal.

One key difference among the versions is the motive. While a gambling debt was assumed to be involved, the magazine article presents a story of the victim having fallen in love with a woman who had for nine years been running around with the murderer. The story said that Girgo and the woman were planning to marry, and open a beer parlor and restaurant.

That fits in with one clipping in the scrapbook. There is a headline reading Lost Love as Motive in Wilmington Murder. The headline appears over a picture of two women who were witnesses. It makes for a strange juxtaposition, as neither of the women were the "lost love". The scrapbook does not have a news story to explain the headline. On the same page of the scrapbook, but from a different paper, is a story which said, "Police have have not yet found a motive for the killing, although it is believed that Girgo may have been involved in a (betting) pool and owed money."

The court document, though, states that no motive was found for the killing.

The magazine story went into considerable detail about the state police investigation, tracking the men in Boston's North End and in East Boston. However, it uses considerable dialogue, presented as direct quotes, which would have been impossible for the writer to know. While it is possible for him to have presented the information accurately, the use of manufactured quotes cuts away at the credibility of the writer, Thorp. Also, the story uses a posed photograph of a couple in a car, with the man holding a gun. The caption read: "This gun isn't meant for you — now. But you'll hear from it yet." Models illustrate this scene."

Another element of question concerns timing. The magazine article tells of two days passing, and then two days later. However, Chief Ainsworth's story had the police arresting the men the same night. That version is corroborated by the court document, which specifically states: "That same night at about 12:55 a.m. on Oct. 4, the four men and Cadero were found by several officers at the home of Ventura in East Boston."

Another difference concerns the ownership of the car. In the magazine article, it was said to belong to a third party. The court document, though, states that it was owned by Orlando. Police found a set of brass knuckles in the trunk.

The murder was the last to occur in Wilmington for nearly 30 years. In 1963, though, three homicides occurred.

BIGGER WRITE-OFFS ON SOME BUSINESS VEHICLES

The new tax law has extended the 50-percent bonus depreciation through 2013. That will mean bigger deductions for buyers of new vehicles purchased new and placed in service this year. The cars, light trucks and vans must be used more than 50 percent for business purposes. The limit is reduced if there is personal use of the vehicle.

The bigger vehicles get better write-off. Pickup trucks with loaded weights over 6,000 pounds can be fully written off if the cargo bed is at least 6 feet long and not accessible from the cab. For a new heavy SUV that costs, say, $65,000, the business can write off $49,000 if it is fully used for business. Leasing vehicles for business is a little less expensive this year. Deductions for lease payments are reduced by an "inclusion amount"—a little lower this year—that's supposed to approximate the limits on depreciation for owners. What's right for your company? National Grid warning customers of payment scam

National Grid is warning Grid customers to beware of the latest episode of utility billing scams. National Grid's Customer Contact Center has received numerous calls from electric customers saying they have been contacted by phone by individuals claiming to be from National Grid and advising the customers they have a past due balance on their utility bill. These scammers warn that service will be shut off immediately, unless the customer provides sensitive bank account or cash card information and agrees to make an immediate payment.

National Grid does contact customers with past due balances by phone to offer payment options, but never demands direct payment over the telephone. If customers wish, they can arrange for a payment by check, credit card or debit card if they speak directly to a customer service representative. Payment can also be made by credit card or debit card without a representative's assistance.

Customers who have received calls demanding immediate payment and are asked for bank account information should contact National Grid immediately.

To verify information and for any billing-related questions in New England, customers should call National Grid's Customer Contact Center at 1-800-322-3223.

Shutdown Strategy

Frustrated yet?

What do you do with an employee that fails to do even the most basic part of the job, is often late with key deliverables, or misses deadlines altogether, jeopardizing the entire organization?

As any good manager knows, you fire that employee.

And you hire someone else. Someone who understands the demands of the job and will not hesitate to do the hard work it takes to get the job done.

Like squabbling children, Congress, with help from the White House, has created a mess. At this point, I don't care who started the shutdown. There is one way, and only one way, to fix it. I don't think the American people have the stomach for it, but the reality is, we're being played.

Every one of us.

As long as all members of the House of Representatives point fingers and blame the opposite side of the aisle, we are being played. Their strategy to play partisan politics guarantees their re-elections as long as party loyalists at every level buy into it - filling the campaign coffers full of donations to fight the 'other' side, whichever side that may be.

The answer, my friends, is written in the Constitution and in the form of the 2014 election. The entire House of Representatives is up for re-election and if the People say 'enough is enough' we can send every one of these failures home.

The House of Representatives, every single one of them, needs to go. No one wants to negotiate, no one wants to take responsibility, every one of them is more interested in placing blame than solving the problem.

No more 'continuing resolutions.' Congress needs to write, and pass, a budget every year like grown-up boys and girls. A budget that balances, pays our bills, and funds a positive future.

If the American people fire their employees, every last one of them, then the next time our elected representatives and senators cannot do the work of the People they'll know they'll all get fired too. Some may be willing to pay the price for their principles, which is just fine. But the People need legislators willing to compromise, find solutions, and craft new laws to manage the ever-increasing complexity of the world around us.

America has one chance to make this change and it begins next year.

Surrender Not

Words are, of course, the most powerful drug used by mankind.

-Rudyard Kipling

sense of continuity, a beginning and an end. When you place that book mark between the pages you can see how much you've accomplished - and how much is left to read. To me, books are alive - they go beyond escape and diversion. My collection of books represents a big part of my personal history. When I take a prized book off the shelf, physically holding that book has meaning. I'm lost all over again, swimming around, tangled and trapped within the pages of my memory. A secret sanctuary for the soul, I suppose.

So every year when October comes along, I mark my calendar. This year the Boston Book Festival is being held on October 17th through the 19th. Copley Square will be abuzz with literary life, with over one hundred exhibitors at Saturday's street fair. In addition to the numerous independent publishers, you'll find literary magazines, media outlets, art organizations, food vendors, workshops, inter-active events, and oh so much more. And of course, there are authors at speaking events, milling around, standing around, signing their books.

Last year I met Sven Birkerts, the author of "The Gutenberg Elegies - The Fate of Reading in an Electronic Age." Does the title tell you why I idolize this writer? We must have talked for half an hour. He was in no hurry, holding a coffee in one hand, and a hand-rolled cigarette in the other. To think someone of his literary standing feels a lot like me was reassuring. It gets better. Back in the middle 90s, I read a rather obscure book called "Gas Station" - an autobiographical story about the author's childhood, growing up in blue-collar Medford. His father owned a gas station - a Jenny gas station that I had actually been to as a teenager! It was as if I knew all the characters from my own similar background. I got completely wrapped up in the story. After finishing the book I couldn't stop thinking about it. I wanted more but couldn't find out anything about the author or where he had disappeared to (this was pretty much pre-computer days). So here I am, last year, strolling along - and my eyes pop out of my head. On a table is a copy of "GAS STATION"! I stare at the book, then glance up and stare at the man sitting there. He stares back with a "what's with you" kind of expression. I point at him and say, "Oh my God, you're Joseph Torra!!! I've been looking for you for almost twenty years." You can imagine where the conversation went from there. Hey, that kind of thing doesn't happen on the Internet.

I've run into our own David Boeri and chatted with Tom Ashbrook of WBUR - and others. To browse and look and listen, to saunter and savor beautiful Copley Square on an October afternoon is euphoria. And from the outdoor music stage, music can be heard, performed by Berklee students. Copley Square becomes an island of peace and solitude for a day. The mind, the music, the muse - you can take time to ponder the future. All you need to bring is your imagination.

Letters to the editor

Don't demonize Columbus

Dear Editor:

As State President of the Order Sons of Italy in America, I urge all our members to take part in local Columbus Day parades to show their Italian-American pride.

Unfortunately, there are many forces trying to redact the holiday and discredit Columbus and his accomplishments. As Americans of Italian descent, this holiday represents all of the contributions to America and to the world by Italians and Italian-Americans. We are proud of the fact that much of the world's art is in Italy; we revel in the genius of Leonardo DaVinci, Michelangelo, and others; we enjoy sharing the food, music and warmth of our ancestral land. Humanitarian contributions by Mother Cabrini; educational progress through Maria Montessori; leading-edge politics with Geraldine Ferraro; and the business acumen of Amadeo Giannini, founder of Bank of America, and Lee Iacocca, who turned around a bankrupt Chrysler Corporation, make us proud.

Thomas Jefferson's "all men are created equal" is credited to his contemporary Phillipo Mazzei, not to mention that the name 'America' comes from Amerigo Vespucci, a map maker. We must be vigilant to ensure that Columbus Day is observed and respected.

I compare Columbus Day to St. Patrick's Day. Every March, our Irish-American brothers and sisters celebrate this holiday to revel in their heritage. Most stores sell decorations, t-shirts, flags, and much more that show Irish themes. There are no protests about it being a religious observation or who St. Patrick was, his motives or actions. It is a pure celebration of ethnic pride. St. Patrick's Day in the middle of March has a large following. Whether it's freezing, snowing, or other harsh weather, Irish progeny go all out to support this holiday.

I join in with my Irish friends and dress in green, eat corned beef and cabbage, and drink the obligatory green beer. I'm happy to celebrate their heritage.

Yet, every Columbus Day, we are put on the offensive defending the man and the holiday. Let's get out there and participate in a parade, get your friends and families to the parade route, organize a community celebration to educate others in what Columbus Day is about. On Columbus Day weekend hang an Italian flag and wear something showing your pride in your heritage. Let's work together to keep this holiday alive. Remember: October is Italian Heritage Month!

I will defend the right of anyone to celebrate their heritage, their culture. Just leave my holiday, Columbus Day, alone. Allow us to showcase contributions of our community and celebrate the unique aspects of the Italian experience.

Let's have a strong showing this holiday and let the world know that we are united in our resolve to keep Columbus Day alive.

Viva Columbus Day!

Running on Empty

by Scott Mallowney

It's official: The United States government has shut down. Ordinarily, those words would be cause for alarm, but this is 2013 and the recession weary population has heard it all before.

As the shut down deadline loomed, both political parties did their best to alarm the public to the horrors that would follow. When negotiations failed and the government began closing its doors, most people didn't notice or didn't care. Ignorance is bliss, they say.

With funds depleted, Washington shut down certain services. All non-essential government personnel were put on furlough until further notice. Apparently 90% of government workers are non-essential. If the country's budget has been spiraling downward for years, why are there so many nonessential employees on the payroll? I'm no financial wizard, but common sense prevails. And how can a country that has run out of money still fund a program to grant driver's licenses to illegal immigrants? Illegal being the key word. This is beyond absurd. Can "we the people" get tax rebates for each day the government isn't functioning? It's not out of the question. In today's political climate, anything is possible.

White House spokespeople tell us not to worry. The military will still be operating (although our soldiers would not be getting paid, that must give them real incentive to go above and beyond for their country).

The area most effected by the government shut down are tourist visiting the nations capitol. With all of our nation's monuments closed, tourists who had trips already scheduled to Washington are forced to look at things from outside locked doors. So much for the "transparent government" the President promised during his campaign.

I spoke with a co-worker from my office, Susan T., who is attending a family reunion in Washington, DC on Friday. Airline tickets and hotel accommodations have been booked and paid for well in advance. Members of her family have taken time off work and altered schedules to make this trip possible. The family is making a pilgrimage to visit a U.S. Marine Korean War memorial exhibit in a museum where their father has received a place of honor. The disappointment and anger was apparent in Susan's voice as she told me the museum will probably be closed when her family gathers in Washington next week. Other sights they planned on visiting will be closed as well unless some miracle negotiation resolves the political stalemate this weekend. Susan's family is weighing the decision to alter their plans. I asked her if she had a Plan B.

"We could drive to Cleveland, Ohio and tour the neighborhood home of Ralphie from the movie A Christmas Story, you know, the one where he wants Santa to bring him a Red Ryder BB rifle. I hear that's open to the public. It won't be the same but at least it's something," she said. I could tell she was just putting on a brave face to make the best of a bad situation.

There are still some sights to see in nation's capitol. A group of young students on a field trip from Kentucky got to witness the fatal shooting of a depressed Connecticut woman who smashed her car through police barriers at the White House gate. And last weekend a man lit himself on fire on the steps of the National Mall.

Slowly but surely things are unravelling as politicians fight like children at a playground. I can't help but think both political parties take secret enjoyment blaming the stalled negotiation on each other. Maybe this shutdown would be a good time to reset everything to zero and start with a clean slate. When you hit rock bottom, the only direction you can go is up - unless hope has been cut from the budget too.

Thanksgiving indulgence

Jayne's Luscious Pumpkin Cheesecake

By JAYNE W. MILLER

Recipe adapted from Emeril Lagasse of Food Network. The baking of this treat was featured earlier this month on WCTV and is viewable on Vimeo.

Prep: 30-45 minutes

Cook/Chill Time:

5 hr 30 min

Level: Easy

Preheat oven to 375 degrees F.

INGREDIENTS

- 1 1/2 to 2 cups graham cracker crumbs
- 1/4 cup finely ground pecans (optional, but better with than without)
- 1/2 teaspoon ground good cinnamon
- 1/2 cup unsalted butter, melted
- 3 8-ounce packages cream cheese, softened (not light cream cheese, unless you like watery cheesecake)
- 1 1/2 cups sugar
- 2 tablespoons cornstarch

- 1 teaspoon good vanilla
- 1/2 teaspoon Pumpkin Pie Spice
- 2 eggs
- 2 egg yolks
- 1/4 cup heavy cream
- 1 15 ounce can pumpkin pulp
- Whipped Cream
- 1/4 cup caramel sauce (optional)

DIRECTIONS

Start with the crust. In a bowl combine the cracker crumbs, nuts, and cinnamon. Better to be generous with the crumbs than have a skimpy crust. Stir in the melted butter. Press the crust mixture into the bottom and about 2-3 inches up the sides of a 9-inch ungreased spring-form pan. Use your fingers to spread evenly. Wrap the bottom of the pan in aluminum foil.

Next, make the filling. I prefer a stand mixer, but have had great success using a hand mixer as well. First, combine cream cheese, sugar, cornstarch, pumpkin pie spice, and vanilla in a mixer bowl. Beat until fluffy. Add eggs and yolks all at once, beating on low speed until combined. Fold in the heavy cream and the canned pumpkin and pour into the crust-lined pan. Place on a shallow baking pan or cookie sheet in oven. Bake for 40 to 50 minutes or until the center appears nearly set when shaken.

Cool 15 minutes on a cooling rack. Open the pan gently and cool for 30 minutes more before putting in refrigerator. Chill for at least 4 hours before serving, though overnight is better. Place a tent of foil over the top of cake, not plastic wrap because it traps moisture on surface of cake. Serve with whipped cream or a light drizzle of caramel sauce.

Six steps to a beautiful landscape next season

By MELINDA MYERS

Don't let a busy schedule stop you from creating a beautiful landscape. Incorporate a few of these changes in your fall landscape care. You'll create beautiful results with a limited investment of time and effort.

Cut the grass, recycle fall leaves, and improve the soil with a pass of the lawn mower. Shred leaves and leave them on the lawn as you mow this fall. As long as you can see the grass through the leaf pieces, the lawn will be fine. As the leaves break down they add organic matter to the soil, improving drainage in clay soil and water holding ability in sandy soils.

Or, as an alternative, use excess leaves as a soil mulch. Shred the leaves with your mower and spread a layer over the soil to conserve moisture and insulate the roots of perennials. Fall mulching gives you a jump on next spring's landscape chores.

Improve your lawn's health by fertilizing this fall with a low nitrogen slow release fertilizer, like Milorganite. You'll reduce the risk of disease problems and with slower weed growth in fall, your lawn, not the weeds, will benefit from the nutrients. Fall fertilization also helps lawns recover from the stresses of summer by encouraging deep roots and denser growth that can better compete with weeds and tolerate disease and insects.

Northern gardeners can follow the holiday schedule and fertilize Labor Day and Halloween. Southern gardeners should make their last fall fertilization at least 30 days before the lawn goes dormant or the average first killing frost to avoid winter kill.

Do a bit of planting. Cool season annuals brighten up the fall garden and, for those in warmer regions, the winter garden. Consider adding cold hardy pansies. They provide color in the fall garden, survive most winters, and are back blooming in the spring just as the snow melts.

Fall is also a good time to plant perennials, trees and shrubs. The soil is warm and the air cooler, so the plants are less stressed and establish more quickly. Select plants suited to the growing conditions and be sure to give them plenty of room to reach their mature size.

Plant daffodils, tulips, hyacinths and other bulbs in fall for extra color next spring. Set the bulbs at a depth of two to three times their height deep. Then cover them with soil and sprinkle on a low nitrogen slow release fertilizer. This type of fertilizer promotes rooting without stimulating fall growth subject to winter kill.

Base your bulb planting time on the weather not the calendar. Start planting after the night-time temperatures hover between 40 and 50 degrees. Be patient, waiting until the soil cools reduces the risk of early sprouting that often occurs during a warm fall.

Those gardening in the far south and along the gulf coast can purchase pre-cooled bulbs to compensate for the warm winters. Or the chilling can be done at home by storing the bulbs in a 35 to 45 degree location for at least 14 weeks before planting.

Leave healthy perennials stand for winter. This increases hardiness and adds beauty to the winter landscape with their seed heads, dried foliage and the birds they attract. Plus, it will delay cleanup until spring when gardeners are anxious to get outdoors and start gardening.

However, be sure to remove any diseased or insect-infested plants to reduce the source of pest problems in next year's garden.

Start composting or add shredded leaves and other plant debris to an existing compost pile. Combine fall leaves with other plant waste, a bit of soil or compost, and sprinkle with fertilizer to create compost. Recycling yard waste saves time bagging, hauling and disposing of green debris. You also reduce or eliminate the need to buy soil amendments to improve your existing garden soil.

Incorporate one or all six of these practices to increase the health and beauty of your landscape now and for years to come.

Road Rage

I would like to thank the man driving the off white Lincoln Town Car in the vicinity of Aldrich Road on Sunday, September 29 at sometime around 3:00. Noticing the "Student Driver" magnet on the back of my car, you understood immediately that what my daughter (who is, as the magnet suggests, just learning to drive) needed was to be exposed to an impatient jerk. Your horn honking, illegal passing and flipping of the bird was, well, let's not understate it - magnificent. You took the time and made the effort to show my sixteen year old precisely what she should NEVER do. (At least that's what we're assuming, having seen the State Police decal on your rear windshield.)

Letters to the editor

Water systems save lives

Dear Editor:

During Fire Prevention Week (October 6-12), I join local water utilities throughout Massachusetts in reminding residents about the critical but often overlooked role that local water supplies - and the systems that deliver them - play in fighting fires and protecting public safety.

A properly functioning, well-maintained water system delivers reliable supplies at a high pressure and volume that can mean the difference between a small, manageable fire and a destructive, raging inferno.

But water infrastructure -- the pipes, distribution mains, wells, pumping equipment, and other components invisible to the public eye -- is aging and rapidly disintegrating.

This condition is especially prevalent in New England where a number of public water systems are more than 100 years old.

To safeguard communities from the ever-present threat of fire, local communities must invest in rehabilitating, improving, and replacing their water infrastructure so that life-saving water can flow uninterrupted from a source of supply, through a network of underground pipes, to the corner hydrant.

I also encourage local communities to support the National Fire Protection Association's campaign to prevent fires in the kitchen, the leading area of origin for home fires, by urging their residents to be more cautious and vigilant, especially when using the stove (visit www.nfpa.org for more information).

During Fire Prevention Week, water works professionals throughout New England applaud our region's firefighters for their courageous, dedicated, and selfless public service.

For more information on the value of water, visit www.thevalueofwater.org.

Sincerely,

Raymond J. Raposa

Attorney General seeks delay of new flood insurance changes

BOSTON - Asserting that FEMA has not complied with its mandates to conduct affordability and peer reviews, Attorney General Martha Coakley last week urged Congress to delay implementation of a new bill that would dramatically increase flood insurance rates for many families and businesses, including across Wilmington and Tewksbury.

In a letter sent Wednesday, October 2, to House Speaker John Boehner (R-Ohio) and Senate Majority Leader Harry Reid (D-Nevada), Coakley asks that the

Insurance Reform Act be delayed until the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) complies with Congress' mandate to Asserts that FEMA has not complied with requirements to conduct affordability and peer reviews before implementing this law undertake an affordability review and a peer review of the new flood zone maps. By eliminating various federal subsidies in the National (NFIP) and expanding flood zone maps, Biggert Waters will pose harsh economic consequences for many homeowners and small businesses in Massachusetts and across the country.

"Premature implementation of the Act threatens the housing recovery that Massachusetts and the nation are just starting to experience," Coakley states in the letter. "We believe that dramatically increased flood insurance rates will tip the balance for many homeowners who weathered the economic downturn, but are still feeling the residual effects of the housing crisis."

In the letter, also addressed to House Minority Leader Nancy Pelosi (D-California) and Senate Minority Leader Mitch McConnell (R-Kentucky), Coakley asserts that because of the redrawn maps, insurance rates will not only increase for those already in the flood plain but for many homeowners and small businesses that for the first time will be required to buy flood insurance.

The Attorney General's Office has heard from several homeowners who purchased their homes in the last year - as the housing market was turning around - have been informed that the flood maps have been redrawn so that they are now required to purchase flood insurance at costs of $10,000 and up. For many, this additional cost is not feasible. Their only option is trying to sell the property at a reduced price that accounts for the added cost of this unanticipated insurance.

Flood insurance is compulsory for property owners with mortgages located in certain zones on Flood Insurance Rate Maps. These homeowners and businesses have no choice, nor do the banks that service their mortgages, but to have flood insurance. Even properties in the new flood zones that do not have mortgages may still be affected, due to heightened building requirements or lower market demand for those properties.

"We have already heard from many small businesses and homeowners about the devastating impact of this new policy," AG Coakley said. "Several homeowners that purchased their homes in the last year—as the housing market was turning around—have been informed that the flood maps have been redrawn so that they are now required to purchase flood insurance at costs of $10,000 and up. For many, this additional cost is not feasible."

Q. Dr. Bob, do I qualify for free diabetic shoes if I have poor circulation?

~ Mary, Stoneham

B. Ask your doctor whether your foot pressure would be distributed more effectively with a customized approach to shoes and insoles. It's important that your feet don't develop calluses - because poor circulation puts you at risk for slow recovery from wounds.

I'd like the memory of me to be a happy one.
I'd like to leave an afterglow of smiles when life is done.
I'd like to leave an echo whispering softly down the ways,
Of happy times and laughing times and bright sunny days.
I'd like the tears of those who grieve, to dry before the sun;
Of happy memories that I leave when life is done.

We love and miss you, Dad, Mom & Chris

Better Business Bureau tips

Avoid social media spam

Marlborough, MA -- Spam on a typical social media account has risen 355 percent in the first half of 2013, according to a recent article by Mashable. This data is based on Nexgate's State of Social Media Spam Report, which was released last week.

The study analyzed 60 million pieces of content collected over the last two years from social media websites, including Facebook, Twitter, LinkedIn, and YouTube. The results of the study confirmed that the amount of social spam is growing at high rates due to spammers moving from email to social network sites.

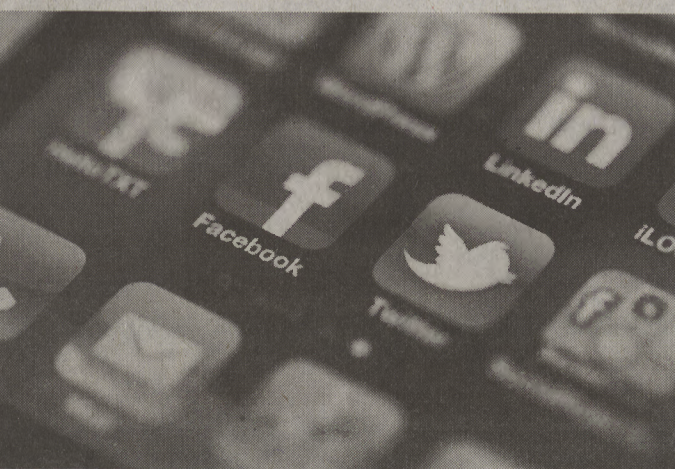

Social media sites are appealing to spammers for various reasons. First of all, it is harder to detect spam because only 15 percent of all social spam has a link that can be detected as spam, according to the report.

Secondly, by using social media, spammers can potentially reach millions of people with a single ad or post. Spammers have also developed a variety of ways to spread spam on social networks making it is easier to trick users with appealing visuals beyond the typical spam email.

As spammers move their efforts to social media sites, it is important that all users know how to protect themselves from potential spam and phishing schemes.

In honor of Cyber Security Awareness Month, BBB and the National Cyber Security Alliance's STOP.THINK.CONNECT campaign recommend the following ways to avoid being a social spam victim:

•Never reveal personal or financial information over email or on a social media site.

•Avoid following unfamiliar or unknown links or pop-up ads.

•Before sending sensitive information over the Internet, check the security of the website. Also pay attention to a website's URL to ensure it is the legitimate site you are looking for.

•Make sure to keep up with the latest operating systems, software, web browsers, anti-virus protection and apps for the best defense against viruses, malware, and other online threats.

•Report any possible spam to the appropriate people within the organization, including network administrators. They can be alert for any suspicious or unusual activity.

•If you believe your financial accounts may be compromised, contact your financial institution immediately and close the account(s). Monitor all accounts for suspicious activity.

Wanted: Your Best Recipes

The students, she said, had “been talking with grandparents, aunts, and uncles from all over the country to collect their most treasured family recipes.” Jennifer Fidler, who teaches graphic design, will have her students create the artwork; Brandi Torchia’s students will edit the recipes, and Krista Anderson, the business teacher who serves as the adviser for DECA, will have her students market the final product. According to Anderson’s twitter page, the proceeds from the cookbook will benefit the Wilmington Food Pantry. Wilmington residents are encouraged to submit recipes. They can do so at this link: <https://docs.google.com/forms/d/1uhvHZRB4tIZMwi86WVSyVjJjN9ymUwXMxj32wwxfjGU/viewform>. Check the Town Crier website for this link! HomeNewsHere.com

The deadline to submit recipes is October 16. The High School will host a tasting and book signing event on December 4 at the Wilmington High School cafe.

Wilmington Fire Fighters help to collect $5,000 for MDA

WILMINGTON - Wilmington Fire Fighters, Local 1370, took the streets on Labor Day asking motorists to help them “Fill the Boot” for the MDA. Through this simple street-side collection campaign Wilmington Fire raised over $5,000. Many participants aided the effort, coordinated by Wilmington Firefighter and MDA coordinator Erik Nansel, along with local Dunkin’ Donuts and Heav’nly Donuts, raised just over $5,000 in contributions for MDA, according to Bill Cavanaugh, president of the Wilmington firefighters union. Throughout the state of Massachusetts, firefighters will be hitting the streets to raise money for the Muscular Dystrophy Association (MDA) as part of the annual “Fill the Boot Campaign”. Donations collected will be used by the MDA to fund services for locals affected by Muscular Dystrophy through research, medical clinics, support groups, summer camps, durable medical equipment and various other services to patients and their families. Help support the MDA and the IAFF by “Making a Muscle and Making a Difference” For more information on MDA and to get involved, please call (508) 898-3375 or via email vmalfitano@mdausa.com.

Can you identify fire hazards in your home?

-Designate a meeting place for family members to confirm everyone made it out safely: pick a tree in the front yard or a mailbox by the street. -Never go back inside the house during a fire, not even for a pet or an item you find important. -Once outside, call 911 from your cell phone or go to a neighbor’s house. Hurley also talked to students about smoke and carbon monoxide detectors. “As soon as they hear the alarm in school or in the house, they need to leave the building and go to the meeting place,” he said. “Even if they don’t know what the problem is, let an adult determine the cause.” Carbon monoxide is particularly dangerous, Hurley cautioned, because it is invisible. “You can’t see or smell it. If the alarm goes off, go outside immediately and call the fire department. They will do a reading in the house to determine if there is a leak or not.” Candle safety is another important topic, according to Hurley. “Candles are very popular during the holiday season,” he said. “Never leave them unattended. If you leave the room, be sure to blow them out. Never leave the home or fall asleep while candles are lit. A candle could burn out itself or the glass (candleholder) could crack.” Candle safety is especially important around animals. One grade school student told Hurley how the family cat moved too close to a candle, catching its fur on fire. “Pets can knock over candles too,” he said. For additional information on fire safety prevention, call Lt. Daniel Hurley Jr., Fire Prevention Officer, at 978-694-2006 or visit the National Fire Protection Association: www.nfpa.org/counts), kidnapping, armed robbery, unlawful possession of a firearm, possession of a large capacity feeding device, and possession of a firearm with a defaced serial number. The murder charge is for the shooting death of Sean Collier on April 18. He is also charged with assaults with intent to murder Watertown police officers hours later in a confrontation and eventual house-to-house hunt that shut down three cities on April 19.

The defendant is presently in the custody of the U.S. Marshal Service awaiting trial on federal charges including those related to the deaths of three people the injuring of 260 others on April 15, 2013. He could face the death penalty for some of his alleged crimes depending on the decision of U.S. Attorney General Eric Holder.

The DA's office stated that the investigation into the circumstances of the police-involved shooting between the defendant and police officers in Watertown is ongoing. Pursuant to protocol, the Middlesex District Attorney's Office conducts a review of all police-involved shootings. Given the number of weapons involved and the amount of firepower expended during this exchange ballistics analysis as well as further investigation is extensive. Final analysis of the facts and circumstances surrounding this event are expected to take several more months.

The Stretch: A simple, clean life will suit you better

Lauren Bacheller will be writing a fitness column once a month for the Town Crier. She is a former stand-out athlete at both at TMHS and Quinnipiac College, a Division I program.

By LAUREN BACHELLER

I have always been a determined person interested in health and fitness; and as long as I can remember I have had the mentality that anything my older brother, Tyler could do, I could do, and maybe even do it better. Well I learned at a young age that this 'do anything,' mentality could sometimes get me into trouble. At age four, I was at a cookout and being the youngest of 15 cousins and brother I often followed them around imitating their every move. At this particular time everyone was jumping off a shed, and per usual I had to follow suit. Except my four-year-old frame could not withstand the impact and I broke my leg. I did not want anyone to treat me like a baby so I remember trying to act like it did not hurt. Needless to say I could barely walk and my mother took me to the hospital where they put me on crutches. The doctor said that I was the smallest person he had ever seen use crutches yet somehow I looked like a pro. Throughout life I continue to echo this same 'do anything,' mentality by being a three sport varsity athlete by sophomore year at Tewksbury Memorial High School and a walk-on to a Division I softball program in college. It did not matter that cheerleaders weren't supposed to play basketball, or that no one from Tewksbury High had ever gone Division I in softball before. There were no obstacles that intimidated me, or

Moriarty a finalist for an incredible award

By BRENDAN FOLEY

Besides playing the same sport, John Moriarty never imagined that he would be mentioned in the same sentence with the likes of football greats like Peyton Manning and Tim Tebow.

Now that's happened. The Wilmington resident and senior at Mass Maritime Academy was named as one of the 170 finalists for the National Football Foundation Campbell Trophy. Referred to as the "Academic Heisman", the William V. Campbell Trophy was first awarded in 1990. The award recognizes an individual as the absolute best scholar-athlete in the nation, including all levels of collegiate football including NCAA and NAIA.

Several of the previous winners have included Manning and Tebow. Last year's winner was offensive lineman Barrett Jones of the National Champion University of Alabama team.

The Campbell Trophy, named in honor of Bill Campbell, the chairman of Intuit and former player and head coach at Columbia University, will be presented on Tuesday, December 10th at the 56th Annual National Football Foundation Annual Awards Dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York City.

The Campbell Trophy recipient will be one of the final 16 NFF Scholar-Athlete Award winners, as each of those 16 individuals will receive an $18,000 postgraduate scholarship.

In addition to a 25-pound bronze trophy, the Campbell Trophy recipient will also receive an additional $7,000 in scholarship monies, raising the final total to $25,000 for the winner.

Moriarty along with WPI's Tim Grupp were the only two student-athletes from New England to make the 170 cut-off.

Currently, Moriarty has an incredible 3.8 GPA as a Facilities Engineering major, while he plays offensive tackle for the Buccaneers, who are 2-2 on the young season.

The 6-foot-3, 260-pound lineman said that he's realized for a long time that he won't be joining Manning at the professional level, so getting the job done in the classroom means that much more.

"Obviously if I had the chance to play pro, I would jump at it," he said. "But I've always known that the chances of that are next to none. That's why I work so hard in the classroom, because I know football won't always be there."

In addition to being a finalist for this award, Moriarty has also earned spots on New England Football Conference and MASCAC Fall All-Academic squads last year as a junior, as well as being named to MMA Athletic Director's Honor Roll.

Moriarty's path to this exalted status did not come easily. He only arrived at Mass. Maritime last year, after struggling to adjust at St. Thomas College in Minnesota. When he transferred to Mass. Maritime, Moriarty decided he had nothing to lose by throwing himself into the football program.

"I figured that if I only had two years of eligibility, I might as well play football while I had the chance." Mass Maritime Head Coach Jeremy Cameron, knew within an instant that Moriarty transferred into his program would be more than able to meet the challenges that awaited him on the field.

"John has been a great addition," Cameron said. "He is by far our best offensive lineman. He really is just the perfect offensive lineman."

Cameron also praised Moriarty's tactical mind, a needed asset when playing a position as cerebrally demanding as offensive lineman. The Coach knows that once Moriarty's football career is over, because of the work he's put into the classroom, that he'll be going places.

Wildcats knock off No. 4 team in the state

By JAMIE POTE

Entering Saturday's game between Wilmington and St. John's Prep, there was a huge discrepancy in the rankings. The Eagles were ranked No. 4 in both the ESPN.com/Boston and Boston Globe Polls, whereas Wilmington was 16th in the Globe but didn't even make the top 20 on the ESPN one.

Well all of that has now changed.

Behind a goal and an assist from senior Austin O'Neal, the Wilmington High School Boys Soccer team pulled off a huge upset with a 2-1 victory over the Prep, in a non-league game played Saturday afternoon at the North Intermediate.

The Prep came into the game unbeaten at 8-0-1, and Wilmington entered riding a 9-game winning streak including knocking off previously unbeaten Belmont, 1-0, two days earlier. Since that win for Wilmington, the Prep has been pushed back to No. 7 in the Globe Poll and the Wildcats have been bumped up to No. 11, while ESPN hasn't posted its updated one as of Tuesday afternoon.

But regardless of the polls, this is easily the program's biggest regular season win since knocking off Masconomet some years back.

"They are definitely one of the best teams in the state," said Wildcat head coach Steve Scanlon, whose team also qualified for the state tournament with the win, the ninth year in a row and 11th in 12 years under Scanlon. "The thing about them is their size. You got a kid like (Chris) Saporito (on Wilmington) who has good skills and who is quick but he's matched up against a kid who is six feet (tall) and has all of that too. And they are deep, they are constantly substituting in and they have a lot."

"It's huge win for us. We're trying to stick with the same recipe we did in hockey and play up and prepare us better for the state tournament. That was a great win for us. We're a home grown team and they are playing the all-star team, so it was a good

Last year he scored just one goal in 21 games.

On Saturday he scored his ninth goal in 12 games.

And certainly the ninth goal will forever be etched in his memory, since it was the game winner against the previously ranked No. 4 team in the state.

Wilmington High School senior Austin O'Neal figured in both goals, setting up the first one before scoring the next one two minutes later to help the Wildcats Boys

Wildcats show grit and character

Football team comes back strong after lopsided loss

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

STONEHAM - After suffering a 41-7 drubbing at the hands of Burlington in their previous game, it would not have been surprising to see a still sulking Wilmington High Football team show up and turn in a subpar effort at Stoneham High last Friday night.

But that was far from the case, as the Wildcats instead showed up to face their former coach Bob Almeida, who now roams the sidelines for Stoneham, and played probably their best game of the year, earning a 19-13 victory over the Spartans to even their record at 2-2 on the season (1-1 in the Middlesex Freedom Division).

Wilmington was led by three rushing touchdowns by senior quarterback James O'Regan, including a 21-yard run in the third quarter that proved to be the game winning points, as Stoneham fell to 1-3 on (0-2 in Freedom Division) on the season.

Wilmington coach Mike Barry was thrilled to see his team rewarded with a big win after a week of hard work following the Burlington loss.

"These kids come to work every day. They work hard and when you call them out they respond," Barry said. "They have a lot of character and a lot of courage. Coming off last week's loss you didn't see any down faces, didn't see any funny looks in the locker room. They just came out and practiced and responded when we challenged them."

O'Regan's 21-yard scoring run for his third touchdown of the game capped a 50 yard drive by Wilmington on their first possession of the second half, snapping a 13-13 tie. It was his longest run of the night in a game that saw him gain 77 yards on 12 carries, while also coming up with a big interception on defense.

O'Regan did most of the work on the drive, starting it with an 18-yard run before a four yard run by Ryan Carraccino and a ten yard run by Matthew Penney gave them a first down at the 21 yard line.

On the next play O'Regan scored on a 21-yard keeper where he eluded Stoneham defenders at the line of scrimmage before basically running untouched into the end zone.

"The line did a great job blocking for me all night, and on that play they opened a big hole for me, and I just followed my blocks and scored," O'Regan said.

A bad snap on the extra point attempt by O'Regan kept the score at 19-13 and left the outcome very much in doubt, with Stoneham having two chances to score in the fourth quarter.

Early in the fourth quarter, Stoneham drove all the way to Wilmington seven yard line, but senior defensive tackle Pat O'Connell dropped Spartans running back Darius McPherson for a three yard loss on third down, and on fourth down, senior cornerback Chris Popa broke up a pass in the end zone.

Stoneham had another chance later in the quarter, moving to the Wilmington 25 yard line, but were done in by a pair of holding penalties and then by O'Regan. The first holding penalty dropped them back to their 32 yard line, but after an incomplete pass, they looked as if they had rebounded nicely with a 32-yard touchdown run by McPherson. But another holding penalty moved them back to the Wilmington 41-yard line.

On the next play O'Regan out leapt the Stoneham receiver at the ten yard line and came up with an interception that nearly sealed the game.

"All I was thinking there was go up and make a play," O'Regan said.

Stoneham would have one more chance however, getting the ball with 1:25 left in the game at their 41 yard line. But Wilmington senior defensive end John Mack sacked Stoneham quarterback Matt Lowe on consecutive plays and O'Regan broke up a pass on the final play of the game to seal the victory.

Stoneham had gotten on the board first, on a 45-yard run by McPherson with 5:17 left in the first quarter for a 7-0 lead after Shane Rhuda's extra point kick.

Wilmington came right back, however, tying the game at 7-7 with a 12-play, 59 yard drive capped by a one yard sneak by O'Regan on the first play of the second quarter, with O'Regan also kicking the extra point.

While O'Regan capped the drive and dominated most of the night with his running, it was his arm that led the Wildcats on this drive, as he connected with Penney, for completions of 25 and 15 yards, as well as an eight yard completion to Carraccino. The 15-yard strike to Penney gave the Wildcats a first and goal at the Stoneham four yard line and three plays later O'Regan snuck in from the one.

"The offensive line is great," O'Regan said. "I know if I am running behind them on a play like that I am going to score."

The passing performance on the drive was all the more impressive considering how the game had started for him. On the second play of the game O'Regan had thrown an interception right to a Stoneham receiver, but he bounced back from there to throw for 90 yards in the game, including the key pass plays on that drive. "I have to forget about that and just move on," O'Regan said.

Barry was impressed with the way his senior signal caller bounce back. "James can run the ball well, but he can also throw," Barry said. "James has learned that once a play happens you just have to put it behind you and move on. He has really come across and shown a lot of maturity, because we put a lot on his shoulders."

Stoneham took a 13-7 lead with 3:45 left in the half on a five yard run by McPherson, after which the two point conversion rush failed, but once again Wilmington responded on the ensuing possession, this time with a nine play, 61-yard drive, capped off by a three yard sneak by O'Regan to tie the game at 13-13 with just 35 seconds left in the half when the extra point attempt by O'Regan was blocked.

Wilmington will look to keep up their winning ways when they host Middlesex Freedom Division rival Wakefield at the new Alumni Field on Friday night at 7:00.

Wakefield will bring a 3-1 record into the game, having beaten Lexington, Lynn English and Melrose before dropping a 17-14 decision to Watertown last week.

At the "Trot For Special Tots 5K" in Andover, long-time runner Trish Bourne of Tewksbury finished fourth with a time of 19:12. She was followed by fellow Tewksbury residents Marli Piccolo (10th, 22:08), Emily Langone (14th, 23:23), Steve Smith (19th, 25:07), Kim Budryk (44th, 28:36), Benjamin Piccolo (47th, 28:53) and Ava Piccolo (71st, 40:00), while the lone Wilmington representative was Michele Doherty, who finished 48th at 28:53.

The second annual "Austin 5K Community Road Race" in Reading had four local participants including Gary Grinnell (6th, 21:43), Ian Perkins (31st, 26:13) and Ian Falcon Rivera (41st, 28:56) of Wilmington, and Michael Carman of Tewksbury, who was 40th at 28:32.

Finally, the "Second Annual Ribbon Four Mile Race" in Lawrence had just two locals competing including Tewksbury's Nathalie Balch (19th, 38:06) and Jenni Kenney (27th, 46:06).

Upcoming Races

Registration for the race is available from 7:30 a.m.-8:30 a.m. and will take place at the Tsongas Center. The entry fee is $22.50 for alumni and open runners and $17.50 for UMass Lowell students and runners under 18 years of age.

The race course is a certified 5K course.

T-Shirts are guaranteed to the first 150 registrants. The top three male and female finishers overall will receive gift certificates to Whirlaway Sports in Methuen.

Feaster Road Race

Registration for the Thanksgiving Day Feaster Five Road Race Nov. 28 - one of New England's largest and most festive running events - is underway at FeasterFive.com.

Given the growing popularity of the event, Race Director Dave McGillivray of DMSE Sports, who also directs the B.A.A. Boston Marathon, New Balance Falmouth Road Race and TD Beach to Beacon 10K in Maine, advises runners to sign up soon at www.FeasterFive.com to secure a spot at the starting line for either the 5-mile or 5K.

"The Feaster Five brings participants from throughout New England," McGillivray said. "It's a popular, family-friendly event, and each year we have more and more runners who want to participate, so signing up early makes sense in case we reach our limit."

Race officials took 10,720 registrations in 2012, which resulted in a record setting 9,297 runners crossing the finish line.

The Feaster Five is a Thanksgiving Day tradition for a growing number of families and groups of friends across the region.

The mood is festive and every race finisher goes home with an old-fashioned apple pie provided by Table Talk, a long-time New England favorite.

"Entries are coming in at a record pace already," said Tom Licciardello of the Merrimack Valley Striders. "We are at double the rate of the record breaking 2012 field, so participants should sign up soon to take advantage of the early registration discount and to guarantee the commemorative race shirt."

Hosted by the Merrimack Valley Striders and managed by DMSE Sports, the Feaster Five Road Race's 5-mile and 5K races will begin at 8:30 a.m. and the Kid's Fun Run at 7:45 a.m. on Thanksgiving Day (Nov. 28). All three races - which welcome walkers as well - begin near Brickstone Square on Main St. in Andover at the corner of Route 133 and Route 28. Proceeds from the race will benefit the Ironstone Farm, Merrimack Valley YMCA and the Merrimack Valley Striders.

The race offers a "family friendly" early entry discount fee of $30 for both the 5K and 5-mile races through Oct. 31 for entrants over 12 and $20 for those under 12. The Kids Fun Run entry fee is $5, regardless of when sign up occurs. Find more information about the race and register at www.FeasterFive.com.

Wildcats clinch tourney berth, seeking bigger goals

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

For the fourth year in a row, the Wilmington High School Girls' Soccer team has qualified for post-season play. This past week the Wildcats were able to make that happen after two tough, grueling wins over two very strong Middlesex League teams, Belmont and Arlington.

The week started with a 3-2 win over Belmont, the same team who ended Wilmington's season last year in the Division 2 North Finals, 1-0. That was the furthest any team in WHS history had gone, so revenge was certainly on the radar. The Marauders entered this game with a 2-3-3 record, much different from its season a year ago, but that still didn't matter as the two teams locked horns for 80 minutes.

"Belmont's record isn't as good as it was last year but it was a real close game and just a very good game," said Wildcat head coach Sue Hendee. "But the records don't matter when it comes to playing a game in the Middlesex League. They never do."

Wilmington took two leads in this game of 1-0 and 2-1 before Belmont tied it up at halftime. Then about ten minutes into the second half, senior Alex Bischoff scored her second goal of the game, and second of the season after netting 16 a year ago. Ashleigh Howland scored the first goal before Bischoff tallied the last two. Rachael Mara and Kaitlyn Curley picked up single assists.

On Monday, Wilmington continued its success with yet another 3-2 win over another formidable league opponent in Arlington. Again the game went back and forth as the Spy Ponders took the lead, before Wilmington scored the next two only to see them tie it back up again. Then right before the halftime break, the 'Cats scored again as Mara scored the game winner coming off a corner kick taken by freshman Stephanie Figueiredo, who ended the game with two assists. Sophomore Casey McFall scored Wilmington's first two goals.

"Arlington is a very good team and they are very technical and are a very skilled team," said Hendee. "They just struggle with finishing (scoring chances). The game was kind of crazy with the wind so the ball was harder to control than usual but it was the same for both teams. They are just a very technically sound team. I thought it was another close, tough game and both wins were big for us."

Now with the two wins, Wilmington has qualified for the fourth straight year, and currently are in first place in the Middlesex League Division 2 standings, a place they haven't left in two-plus seasons after winning the league title each of the past two years. But getting into the tournament was the team's first goal of the season that has been met.

"It was definitely a goal," said Hendee. "But when you play in the Middlesex League it's certainly not an easy goal to attain. It's nice to get this one out of the way at this point of the season. You hate to have it come down to later in the season when weather and rainouts can become a factor."

Now with this goal set in stone, Hendee said there's several more on the horizon. "We have bigger goals," she said. "We want to win the league title again and we want to beat Winchester (on Thursday) for the first time. Then we can look ahead to the state tournament. But before then we're going to close out the season against the other teams in our division who we all beat the first time around so we need to keep the kids focused and keep them on their toes because we definitely have the target on our backs after winning the league title the past two years (and currently being in first place)."

Wilmington will travel to face Winchester, a perennial state championship contender every year, on Thursday afternoon before staying on the road Monday to face Burlington for a 10:00 am start on Columbus Day.

WHS Sports Round-up Field Hockey team rebounds with a big victory over Arlington

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

After taking a step back with a sub-par performance in the team's 3-0 loss to Belmont last Thursday, the Wilmington High School Field Hockey team rallied back and put forth a tremendous team effort to defeat Arlington, 2-0, on Tuesday night before the home crowd at Alumni Stadium.

The 1-1 week puts the Wildcats at 6-4-2 overall and the team needs four more points in their last six games to qualify for post-season for the second straight year under head coach Leanne Ebert, who was named the interim coach last fall after Jodi Campbell took a paternity leave of absence.

"If we play like we did against Arlington the rest of the season, we'll be going places," said Ebert.

But that wasn't the case the game before in the loss to Belmont.

"The team unfortunately could not seem to gel against Belmont and the final score is the end result of that," said Ebert. "We're using this as a learning experience and moving on from it."

And the team did just that, learned from it and moved on. On Tuesday night, the Wildcats played tremendous for all 60 minutes.

"We started off strong which is what we needed, to do," said Ebert. "The girls clicked right away and worked hard to transfer skills we went over at practice onto the field during the game. The girls moved the ball, took their free hits quickly and played with heart the entire game."

Just ten minutes left in the first half, Melissa McNamara scored what turned out to be the game winner and then she added her second goal of the game three minutes later giving Wilmington a 2-0 lead before the halftime break. That score stood the rest of the way.

"Midfielders Jocelyn Cornish and Amanda Richards had solid performances, not only offensively taking shots on net, but hustling back on defense as well," said Ebert. "Kourtney Bolis had a strong game at midfield as well continuously feeding the ball into the circle providing the forwards with scoring opportunities. The forwards had a particularly strong game using quick, short passes to move the ball up the field. In particular, Rachel Alatalo, Melissa McNamara, Bethany Kane, Nicole McInerney and Bridget Sullivan. Brianna Kumm had a few nice saves as well in net."

Wilmington returns home for its next two games, Thursday night against Winchester at 6:00 pm and then Monday morning at 10:00 am against Burlington.

BOYS XC

on Tuesday afternoon, falling to Middlesex League, Division 2 rival Watertown, 25-30. The team is still winless on the season.

"The race was very competitive and athletes were progressing past one another all through out the race," said assistant coach Brian Schell. "The team collectively made a great effort, running exceptional times for themselves and pushing one another through a faster paced 2.8 mile course."

"The overall performances were very pleasing and the athletes are showing great consistency with their times which is a very beneficial trait to have as a runner."

Justin Larosa and Chris Maienza were Wilmington's top two finishers coming in 6th and 7th overall, after starting the race well behind the pack. They finished with respective times of 17:54 and 17:55. Coming in behind them included Alex Pizette (16:58), Colin Chase (17:13) and Rob Hartsough (18:05).

GIRLS XC

The Wildcat Girls' team was also defeated by Stoneham, 20-36, to fall to 1-4 on the season. Sophomore Callie O'Connell's incredible feat of finishing first in every meet so far this season came to an end, as she finished second overall with a time of 17:56 which was one second off the course record time.

Finishing behind O'Connell include Jackie Ryan (4th at 20:59), Nicole Romanzo (8th at 21:34), Maeve Sullivan (9th at 22:04) and Elisabeth Olson (23:21).

VOLLEYBALL

The Wilmington High School Girls' Volleyball team was defeated by Stoneham, 3-1, last Friday. The 'Cats won the first match 25-15 before falling in the next three by scores of 25-23, 25-20 and 25-20. Hannah Brown led the way with eight kills and 16 digs, while Megan Hyndorn chipped in with four kills and five digs and Chloe Castellano had two kills and eight digs.

Wilmington fell to 3-7 with the loss. The team returns to action with two home matches this week against Winchester on Friday and Burlington on Wednesday.

Luppi tabbed as Defensive Player of the Week

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

Tewksbury resident Allie Luppi was named the Defensive Player of the Week in the Little East Conference in women's volleyball after helping the Eastern Connecticut State University team finish with a 2-1 mark.

In the three games, she averaged 5.45 digs per set, including 21 in the team's win over UMass Dartmouth and the University of New England, while having 18 against Framingham State. In addition, she only made three errors in 54 service receptions. She has helped ECU to a 9-9 overall record.

Sticking with volleyball, St. John's University recently defeated the UMass-Lowell women's volleyball team, 3-0. Wilmington resident Lauren Bennett, a freshman, contributed with four kills in the loss. The Riverhawks fell to 0-11 on the season.

Tewksbury resident Lindsay Phenix contributed with six kills and four blocks for the St. Michael's women's volleyball team in their 3-1 loss to Bentley College recently.

Turning to cross country, Wilmington's Erik Alatalo finished 36th overall with an 8:00 meter time of 27:22 to help the Bentley College men's cross country team finish sixth overall in the 45th annual Codfish Bowl.

In men's soccer action, junior Adam Colella from Wilmington made six saves for Stonehill College in a 2-1 overtime loss to Southern New Hampshire University.

Also, Wilmington resident Chris DiCecca, a junior at Colby-Sawyer, scored a goal in each half to lift this team to a 2-1 win over the University of Maine-Farmington in a North Atlantic Conference game played on Sunday.

DiCecca scored the game's first goal in the 31st minute. The ball was pin-balling between several players in the Beavers' six-yard box when DiCecca was able to get a shot off and score his second goal of the season. The Chargers took the 1-0 lead into the break after controlling the first half with a 15-2 advantage in shots and a 7-2 edge in corners.

With the game tied at 1-1, the game-winning goal from DiCecca came at 68:21. After Colby-Sawyer earned a corner kick, junior Alex Ortega sent a ball towards the box. The UMF defense was able to clear the ball, but it went right back to Ortega who served it back in towards the far post. DiCecca was all alone and headed the ball into the net for his second game-winner of the season.

Colby-Sawyer is now 7-4 on the season.

In women's soccer play, Alexa Poulin of Tewksbury helped the Southern New Hampshire University team knock off Stonehill, 2-1. In the 78th minute, Poulin struck a great ball form 25 yards out which nailed the crossbar and then was knocked into the net by Stonehill keeper Amy Wheaton.

The Ithaca College women's soccer team maintained its ranking in the National Soccer Coaches Association of America National Poll that was released on Tuesday. The Bombers stayed at No. 6 in the country after going 1-0 last week, defeating then No. 9 Misericordia by a score of 1-0 at Carp Wood Field. Ithaca is now 9-1 on the season. Wilmington resident Holly Niemiec has played in all ten of the team's games and has two assists on the season.

The Bombers are also ranked in the top-10 in the most recent D3Soccer.com poll, sitting at No. 7 in the national rankings. Ithaca's next game is a road contest against Elmira on Saturday, Oct. 12. The match is set to start at 12 p.m.

In women's tennis action, Tewksbury resident Nicole McColgan has been very busy recently with the Wentworth team. First, Roger Williams University defeated Wentworth, 9-0, and McColgan joined Deborah Massaro and were defeated at second doubles and then she was defeated by Lauren Schmidt with scores of 6-0, 6-1 at third singles.

In Wentworth's 6-3 loss to Salve Regina University, McColgan joined up with Massaro again and were defeated 8-4 at second doubles. But McColgan won her singles match over Emma Gruber by scores of 6-4 and 6-2.

Coming next week will be the College Football Column.

Tewksbury Football team drawing a lot of attention

The request was surprising, given the fact that I was in the warm water and the sweltering heat that is South Florida in late August. "Hey Rick, can you get your hands on a Tewksbury High School football schedule? I'm hearing that they are loaded this year, and I'd like to see a couple of games." The call came from a long-since retired Tewksbury High School coach, and he'll remain nameless in this column per his request. There was another call not long after this one, and it was from someone that I hadn't heard from in years. "When does the Tewksbury High School football season start? I'm hearing that they are going to be great this season."

All of these inquiries were interrupting my snorkeling off Fort Lauderdale Beach, but I have to admit it had my high school football radar back up and running after several months of not paying much attention to anything other than my frequent flyer miles.

After securing a TMHS football schedule from Town Crier Sports Editor Jamie Pote, I forwarded it north to my more-than-curious friends. Days later, I packed up my computer and returned to Boston and began to take a look at the new (and in my opinion not very-much improved) football ratings system devised by the MIAA. After putting away my slide-rule and consulting with my friends in mathematics at MIT, I returned to a much simpler equation.

No matter what system was in place, coach Brian Aylward's Redmen can be much more than just very good. The team is coming off a pair of MVC Division II titles coupled with back-to-back playoff appearances.

This season, the potential for high school football superiority was indeed in place. On paper at the least, Tewksbury High School football looked great when I was back on the beach, with plenty of returning veterans at all of the skill positions; a rock-solid offensive line and an improved defense. After four games, it might be time to put away much of the 'potential' conversations.

These Redmen (4-0) are undefeated as they prepare for Saturday afternoon's first home game against a tough Methuen Ranger team coached by former TMHS' defensive coordinator Tom Ryan.

Senior quarterback Johnny Alyward and his talented offensive teammates Kevin Dick, James Sullivan, Eddie Matovu, Dominic Rosado, Alex Hamilton and Johnny DeVito -- to name just a few -- will be facing their stiffest challenge of this young season, as first-year head coach Ryan, to no one's surprise, has returned the Rangers to much of their tough-guy persona that was put in place many years ago by the late Larry Klimas.

The Rangers want to punch

you in the mouth and knock you to the ground. They will run the football and have the people and the coach to back all of this heady stuff up. This is a given when you read what Ryan told the Eagle-Tribune's Hector Longo way back in late February.

"We need linemen to push people around, like they had a few years ago. To win, you have to first win on the line of scrimmage," said Ryan. "There is a blue-collar work ethic in town. And I like the toughness of the kids."

After 12 seasons coaching in Tewksbury, one gets the impression that Ryan just might have gone out of his way to transfer some of Aylward's "tough as nails" mantra straight over to the Methuen Ranger sideline. One question was finally answered for this writer. What took someone so long to hire the talented Ryan?

If there are more questions that are left to be answered regarding the TMHS football team, they are likely to be penciled in after Saturday's game. A win will give the Redmen an even more lofty rating in the new system as the team begins its' home schedule in front of what should be a rabid fan base. Yes, this could be Aylward's greatest team in his 17 years at the TMHS helm. They are not playing simply on paper at this point, and there is no doubt now why my swim was interrupted twice back in August.

This football team could be great guys. See you Saturday.

Utah coach steps up

There was a breath of high school football fresh air coming out of Utah last month. Coach Matt Labrum of Roosevelt's Union High School came up with a list of requirements that his players had to fulfill to get back on the squad after making the highly unusual request of asking the team to collectively turn in their jerseys after word got back to him of bad grades, cutting class and players engaging in cyber-bullying.

All 80 of the team's players were suspended until they proved to the coach that they were working their way back by showing good character. The players, according to the coach, had to earn 'the privilege to play.' The coach's actions had nothing to do with play on the field, even though the team was coming off a crushing defeat. According to their coach, actions off the field spoke a whole lot louder than any results on the scoreboard.

In a letter he distributed to the entire team, the coach listed five things that a player must accomplish in order to return to the team, which represents a small city in Utah. They each had to make an effort to attend every practice; be on time; receive no F's and have no disciplinary problems in class; do an individual service project that helps their families; and memorize a quote about good character and then recite it to the coach.

"We want student-athletes that are humble to learn and grow through adversity and success on and off the field," Labrum told Erik Ortiz of the New York Daily News. "We want a team that others want to associate themselves with and support; winning isn't the most important criteria for that to happen."

Dozens of players have already earned their jerseys back and have since returned to the field. Some parents were initially upset with Labrum and his coaching staff, but they reconsidered when they saw their sons taking this challenge seriously.

The players have performed tasks as far ranging as community service, like going to the senior center and playing games and talking to seniors, or digging and clearing weeds and the painting/repairing of the high school's bleachers. Labrum has already seen the action as having a lasting effect on his players.

Some on-line comments reflected the majority of opinions regarding the coach's decision. "Clear eyes and full hearts can't lose-Friday Night Lights- this is not an original concept, just one that is rarely used. This is a REAL COACH. This should not be a newsworthy event. This should be a required action for any coach, of any team, plain and simple. This team has no idea of the treasure that their coach has bestowed upon them."

There aren't a whole lot of news flashes these days that get me gently smiling into the night, but this one did just that. It made my week.

win and we're excited about it." The Prep took the 1-0 lead scoring eight minutes into the game on a penalty kick, as Wilmington made a mistake, inside the '6 yard box eluding to the goal. The score remained that way until the seventh minute of the second half. Wilmington continued to mount the pressure and finally were able to crack the back of the net. O'Neal took a feed from Drew Foley down the left side and took a shot that nailed off the crossbar, before Jimmy Murphy put home the rebound to tie the game up at 1-1. "I thought we outplayed them in the second half," said Scanlon. "In the first half we made a mistake and gave up a penalty kick goal just eight minutes into the game. "But we came back and scored a controversial goal. They claimed that we were off sides when Murphy scored. And then the most vulnerable time in a game comes the next two minutes after a team scores a goal and we got it." So just two minutes later, O'Neal scored the game winner, his ninth of the season putting the Wildcats up 2-1 with about 30 minutes to go. "They swarmed the fort with fifteen minutes to go really pouring it on," said Scanlon. "Our defense was really strong especially (sweeper-back) Kory McGilvary. He had one of his best games, and (goalie) Luke (Foley) took a lot of stuff out of play and that helped a lot." Foley made three saves in the net for the win, while he had help from backs Jared Walsh, Adam Coccoluto and midfielder Chris Michelangelo, who was making return after a foot injury, who all played extremely well in the win. Two days before Wilmington knocked off Belmont, 1-0. Mitch Goulet scored the lone goal coming off a corner kick taken by Drew Foley. Luke Foley made six stops to record the shut out. In the 2-1 win against Arlington played on Monday, Saporito and Murphy scored the goals with assists going to O'Neal and Saporito. That was the team's 11th straight win after starting the season out with a loss to Reading. "We had a great week beating two previously unbeaten teams," said Scanlon. "Both of them were very hard performances. (Monday) was a trap game. I figured it would be tough to get them to get going and we got the lead but then stopped playing. When you're giving up a goal thirty seconds into the (second) half that's tough. But we survived it." Wilmington is back in action with home contests on Thursday afternoon at the North against a very good Winchester team, and then a 10:00 am contest Monday morning against Burlington, also at the North.

O'Neal delivers the goods in upset win

Soccer team come away with a huge upset 2-1 victory over St. John's Prep, who entered the game unbeaten and were ranked No. 4 in both the Boston Globe and ESPN.com/Boston polls. O'Neal has improved leaps and bounds in both of his sports over the last year-plus. He was a third line forward on the state championship hockey team this past March providing several huge tallies during their incredible season. Now as a senior on the soccer team, he's gone from scoring one goal as a junior, to nine thus far in 12 games. "Coming in from the summer knowing I played a big role in the hockey team's state championship was great and I just wanted to carry that momentum over here to soccer," he said. "So I came into (this soccer season) just at full force scoring and I'm not going to stop. But it's all about confidence. We have a great team here with a lot of depth and we have played together since the beginning." O'Neal was one of the forwards on last year's soccer team who helped the Wildcats win a Middlesex League Division 2 title and advance to the sectional semi-finals, losing to North Andover.

About nine months after that loss, O'Neal and 16 other seniors return for this season hungry as ever to continue the winning ways. The Wildcats were defeated in their first game of the season to Reading, and have since knocked off 11 teams in a row, including Belmont, 1-0, on Thursday, the Prep on Saturday and then Arlington, 2-1 on Monday. Obviously though the highlight was the win over the all-star line-up of the Prep. "Everyone was so psyched about facing St. John's Prep, the number (four) team in the state," he said after the team's win two days later. "We came in here with our heads held high and we knew we would be in for a battle. They scored first but we didn't let that bother us. We knew that we had to come back and get the next one because if we didn't they would just strike again and again. They are a great team. We took it too the with our physical play, we stayed positive and we went right after them." The Prep scored on a penalty kick in the eighth minute of the first half. The score remained that way until the seventh minute of the second half. "(Teammate Jimmy) Murphy was coming down the left side and I came across and he kind of tapped the ball to me," described O'Neal. "So I came around with the ball and put a shot on net because I knew the goalie was coming out. He there's nothing better than scoring the game winning goal." Two days later, O'Neal didn't score but did add an tipped it, then it hit the crossbar and Murphy was right there for the rebound." That tied the game up at 1-1, but O'Neal and the Wildcats weren't done yet. "Two minutes later, Drew (Foley) was coming down the left side again and he knows where I am all of the time," said O'Neal. "He has multiple assists on my goals this season. He put the ball right in front of my foot and I just put a small tap on it to the bottom left corner. That felt good. That was a big goal and it really pumped all of us up." Wilmington held off the Prep the rest of the way, and not only sent them packing with its first loss of the season, but they dropped in the latest Globe Poll to No. 7. "Definitely it is (my biggest goal of my career), and it comes against the biggest and best team that we'll face all season," he said. "So assist in the team's sloppy 2-1 win over Arlington. "Today we came in lackadaisical," he said. "We didn't come in focused like we normally do and they took it too us especially in the first ten minutes. We ended up getting two quick goals and we were able to settle down but then we played another lackadaisical second half. They scored to make it 2-1 and we were lucky to be able to hang on (for the win)." O'Neal added that he plans on continuing his offensive surge in the second half of the season, including what he hopes is another long playoff run. "If we play our game, if we play like we did against St. John's Prep, there's not a team out there who can stop us," he said. "We have a real good chance of going all the way (and winning the Division 3 state championship)."

The Stretch: A simple, clean life will suit you better

that I felt I was unable to conquer. For me a big part of this mentality is putting the work in and making sure that I am set up to win. The way I do this is by being conscious of what I put into my body. I must admit that I am not much of a 'foodie,' but a girl has to eat. I view food as the fuel for my body, opposed to an indulgence. Rather than eat an overload of calories because they taste good, I eat what makes me feel good. I eat foods that energize my body and keep me feeling fresh and alive. I never deprive myself from what I want, but I understand that eating is a necessity and I'm not a dog rewarding myself with treats. After 17 years of sports and academics I completed college and was searching for an outlet to focus my love of health and fitness on. Transitioning from a DI softball regiment to a washed up athlete that simply wanted to stay in shape was an interesting evolution. I went from practice three times a day, to three a week if I am lucky. My mindset used to be that the only way to workout was by going for a run, or lifting weights at the gym. However, as a busy working woman balancing a household and a social schedule I had to find a work life balance. I realize that going for a brisk walk, or doing body weight workouts like lunges and pushups are also great options that leave you feeling refreshed. Whether you have one hour a day or even ten minutes to devote to fitness, remember that you are lapping everyone on the couch. I did not realize it at the time, but playing sports provided me with an amazing foundation to be successful in life. I learned how to work in a group and as an individual. I learned how to prioritize and manage my time with a busy schedule. I learned that you are only as strong as your weakest link; and I learned that if you put everything you have towards a goal, it is achievable. I bring this mindset with me in the working world, and no matter how bad my day is, I get through it and look forward to relieving my stress through working out. I would like to take this opportunity to tell you from the point of view of a former athlete as well as health and fitness enthusiast that living a simple clean life through sports, nutritious diet, and fitness is the path you want to embark on! Maybe you're washed up too, or maybe you're a slave to your busy schedule, but I am here to say that if you keep that 'do anything,' mentality that nothing is impossible. Remember where you came from, what got you there, and go back to the basics. Mia Hamm once said "somewhere behind the athlete you've become and the hours of practice and the coaches who have pushed you is a little girl who fell in love with the game and never looked back... play for her." And in this instance, live for her. I would love to hear you from you! If you are an athlete, or a former athlete looking for how you can separate yourself from the pack, or even how you can stay fit and healthy in this busy world we live in, please reach out to me at Lauren.B.Bachelor@gmail.com.

member of this program." Cameron said. "I know he will accomplish great things once he leaves here." Football has been an important part of Moriarty's life since an early age. He began his career with Wilmington Pop Warner and continued onwards through high school and now into college. During his days at WHS, he served as a captain as a senior, was named the Cape Ann League's Lineman of the Year, and was also named to play in both the Shriners and Agganis All-Star games. After graduating from the Wilmington High School in 2010, Moriarty was taken aback by the huge leap in talent and intensity that marked the transition into college ball. "In college, everyone's strong, everyone's fast, and everyone is driven to do well," he said. "The hardest part of college ball is adjusting to the new offense and faster games that have more complex plays." Moriarty has spent the past two years blazing trails and setting records up and down the football field at MMA. He is part of an offensive line unit that currently ranks second nationally in NCAA Division III in total offense at 587.3 yards per game. The Bucs started out the season winning their first two games over New York Maritime Academy, 24-20, in the sixth annual Chowder Bowl, followed by a 52-18 schellacking over Maine Maritime. The last two games, Mass Maritime has been defeated by Worcester State in a crazy 64-63 game, and then by Fitchburg State, 40-17. Moriarty said being the team's right offensive tackle who has helped the Bucs offense average almost 600 yards per game, is certainly something he can smile at. "The best part is getting that perfect block and seeing my running back score a touchdown, and knowing that I did my job and everyone else did their (job as well)," he said. "When it all comes together, that's a great feeling." But it's also 'a great feeling' knowing he's one of the top scholar football players in the entire nation, and perhaps maybe he'll be named the eventual winner. But if not, Moriarty is perfectly fine just being named one of the 170 finalists for this prestigious award. "It's an awesome honor just to be in the same category as these other guys," he said.

D2 Pop Warner team falls to Reading in tough game

D2

Reading 25, Wilmington 0

The Wilmington D2 Pop Warner team faced its toughest challenge of the season this past Sunday facing top notched Reading which resulted in a 25-0 loss.

The young Wildcat squad played in torrential down pouring cold rain. Reading struck first on a long run which resulted in their first touchdown of the game.

The Wildcat Defense did not make it easy for them and on fourth down they slipped through the wildcats paws scoring on the drive. Key tackles on the drive were made by Colin Sainato, Tyler Rourke, Mason Glover, Adam Leblanc, Brian Duggan, Ryan Leblanc, Gavin Erickson, Devon McLaughlin and Jack Rooney. Andrew Severino, Mike Lee, and Tyler Cardello delivered some monster hits on the drive. After a quick four and out for the 'Cats, Reading quickly scored on their second drive causing the Cats to get down early.

Quarterback Colin Sainato calmed the Wildcat offense down and started to move the ball up the field and got some hardnosed running out of running back Adam LeBlanc, Tyler Rourke, Devon McLaughlin and Mason Glover who punished the Reading defense.

Running back Adam Leblanc took over and on the drive broke four tackles and went for 40 yards for the wildcat longest run of the day but unfortunately was stopped on the 10 yard line. Key blocks on the offensive stretch came from Hugh Murphy who also ran the ball well for the wildcats, Aiden Macloed, Eric Lingenfelter, Brady Robbins, Devon Milano and Aaron Dancewicz.

After a challenging first half, Reading came charging out on the field and moved the ball up the field and found themselves knocking on the front door at the Wildcat 20 yard line, after a hard fought defensive battle Reading broke free of the Wildcat defense and punched it into the end zone on a quarterback sneak.

The 'Cats played tough during the drive causing a lot of frustration to the Reading Offense; Key tackles during the defensive drive were made by, Adam Lopez, Gavin Erickson, Tyler Rourke, Brian Duggan and Devon Milano. Tyler Cardello, Brady Robbins, Devon McLaughlin, Ryan Leblanc and Colin Sainato made key hits from the middle linebacker and corner back spots.

The 'Cats offense took the field and quickly went four-and-out and on the next play Reading scored on a broken play making the final score 25-0.

E Team

The Reading Rockets proved to be a tough opponent for the Wilmington Wildcat E team this past Sunday.

The offense was led by Jacob Roque, who once again had over 100 yards rushing and scored two touchdowns. Key blocks by Ashton Stalker, Owen Cushing, Nathan Ford, and AJ Chisholm helped the Wildcat offense get the job done.

Defensive tackles Brayden Gorski, Breadon White, Jack McLaughlin and Andre Turner helped to slow down a talented Reading offense with some outstanding plays. Linebacker Joe McCauley had a key fumble recovery to stop the charging Rocket offense.

The Wildcats led the entire way and with less than a minute left the Rockets scored the final touchdown of the game, making the final score Rockets 13, Wildcats 12.

B Team

The Wilmington Wildcats B Team endured tough weather and tough competition on Sunday to come away with their fourth win in five games and their 19th straight Middlesex League game.

Paced by John Kenney's 141 rushing yards and five touchdowns, the Wildcats toppled the Reading Rockets 32-6. For the day, the Wildcats had 220 yards rushing with fullbacks Kyle Penney, Peter Marino, Blake Hiltz and tailback Braden Hiltz contributing with 80 yards rushing.

The offensive line, led by Kyle Kenyon, Mark Companschi, Owen and Michael Steen opened huge holes for the running backs.

The Wildcats were without starting right tackle Tommy Strow but Colin Rooney and Pat McAndrew stepped in and did a fantastic job for Wilmington.

On the defensive side of the ball, Pete Marino and Blake Hiltz each had another monster game for the Wildcats. Marino led the team in tackles from his nose tackle spot with 5.5 tackles for the game, including three tackles for loss.

Hiltz anchored a solid linebacker unit with five tackles and a forced fumble that was picked up and returned by safety John Kenney for a defensive touchdown.

After a solid return on the opening kickoff, the Wildcats appeared to score on a 40 yard run by John Kenney but the play was called back due to a holding penalty.

The Wildcat offense had the ball 1st and 20 from the fifty yard line and two short runs followed by two incomplete passes turned the ball over to Reading. The Wildcat defense rose to the occasion and stuffed the Reading offensive attack.

Defensive ends Andrew Sullivan and Drew Brandenburg contributed with 5.5 tackles on the day while defensive tackles Frankie Irizarry (2.5 tackles), Brett Chisholm, Cam Willis and Michael Smolinsky protected the middle of the defense.

On their second possession, the Wildcat offense came to life. Utilizing their "Maryland I" offense (two tight ends and an extra fullback in the backfield), the Wildcats scored on their first play of the possession, an 85-yard touchdown run by John Kenney between the right guard and right tackle. The PAT was no good and the Wildcats took a 6-0 lead.

After another defensive stop, the Wildcat offense came back on the field and orchestrated a five play drive with Penney, Hiltz and Kenney getting carries on the series. The drive culminated with a four-yard touchdown run by Kenney, his second of five touchdowns on the day. The Wildcats took a 12-0 lead.

The Wilmington defense took the field again and continued their dominance. Reading tried to open up their offense with more but corners Michael Ducharme, Mikey Daley and Aaron Soto shut down the Reading passing attack. Outside linebackers Joey Dumoulin (two tackles), Braden Hiltz (two tackles), Kyle Kenyon and Kyle Penney (combined three tackles) did an excellent job against the run and the pass guarding the flats and not allowing any big gains by Reading.

On the final drive of the half, Wilmington brought in a new offensive unit. Timmy Rivers went to quarterback, Hiltz and Marino went to the backfield, Ryan Brewer and Sudarsham Swamy went to receiver and Ben Stafford, Nick Kullman and Kyle Bolis came in on the line. The Wildcats had an eight play drive that unfortunately ended in a turnover but the drive gained 25 yards on eight plays.

With just a few minutes left in the half, Reading struck for a long pass play to their backside tight end. Joey Dumoulin managed to run him down close to the endzone but Reading eventually scored. Their PAT was blocked so the score stood at 12-6 going into halftime.

After a fiery halftime speech from Coach Sullivan, the Wildcats came out in the third quarter and played perhaps their best single quarter of the season. A quick defensive stop gave way to a three play drive by the Wildcats that culminated in a 28 yard touchdown run for John Kenney. The PAT by Daley was good and the Wildcats took a 20-6 lead.

On the next defensive series, a monster hit by linebacker Blake Hiltz led to the Reading running back coughing up the football which Kenney returned for a touchdown. The Wildcats increased their lead to 26-6.

After yet another strong defensive stand, the Wildcats came out and put together a six play, 30 yard drive that culminated in a three yard touchdown run for Kenney, his fifth touchdown of the game and third of the quarter. Two of the highlights on the drive were quarterback Timmy Rivers completing passes to Mikey Daley and Pete Marino to keep the drive alive. The pass to Daley went for 10 yards while the grab by Marino netted 15 yards on the play. The Wildcats took a commanding 32-6 lead and began bringing substitutes off the bench before taking a knee late in the fourth quarter.

Girls Under 12-3 soccer team wins their fourth straight game

The Wilmington Wildcats GU12-3 youth travel soccer team, decked out in their pink socks and sporting pink hair and headbands to promote Breast Cancer awareness, won their fourth straight game Saturday 4-2 in Melrose.

The Cats put four goals to the back of the net for the second time this season, but they had to fight to the final whistle to pull out the victory. Alison Fisher opened up the scoring with a powerful drive to finish a run down the right side. She nearly got another, but dented the post and Melrose was able to answer with a goal of their own to tie it.

Later in the half, both Grace Ardito and Elizabeth Stokes set up scoring opportunities but Melrose was able to keep them from putting any more goals on the scoreboard.

Molly Ardito and Ryann Walsh each made pretty plays that nearly led to the Wildcats taking the lead, but the Cats were unable to finish and get the ball into the goal. Melrose made a late first half run, forcing Goalie Hannah Watson to make several key stops so that the Wildcats could get to half-time tied at 1-1.

The second half featured some stellar individual efforts and three Wildcat goals. Ava Elliot took a Fisher feed and went top shelf to give the Wildcats a 2-1 lead. Katie Regan made it 3-1, hammering a corner kick off of a defender's body and into the net.

Kylie Ducharme did what she does best, firing one past an overworked keeper for the Wildcat's final goal of the game. Making sure that the lead stood up, Jillian Fischer hustled all over the field to thwart several Melrose chances. Molly Dugan and Amanda Mercier each made clutch defensive stands against desperate Melrose runs. Emily Sartori and Jenna Sweeney stood out, consistently winning free balls and leading the Wildcat transition from defense to offense.

Amber Flynn was a difference maker in the Wilmington net making several athletic stops and booming punts out of harms way to secure the Wildcat victory.

Shawsheen Tech Sports Round-Up

Lady Rams remain undefeated in the league

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

The Shawsheen Tech Girls Soccer team continued to roll along this past week, picking up a big win over CAC rival Northeast Metro Tech last Wednesday in Wakefield.

The win improved the Lady Rams to 8-2-1 on the season, and kept them undefeated in the CAC large with a 7-0-1 record within the loop, as they close in on a fifth consecutive league crown.

As good as the Lady Rams have been, and they have been exceptional, with eight shutouts on the season, having outscored their CAC opponents by a combined 21-1 heading into the Northeast game, they have been in relatively tight games all year. That was not the case in this one.

"It felt good to win one like that," Shawsheen coach Doug Michaud said. "That was really our first one like that of the year. We got everyone in the game, which we always do anyway, but in this one we put it away early."

Shawsheen was led by a pair of goals by junior Emily Irwin, giving her a team leading five on the season, while Darien Lavino and Lynne Snook of Tewksbury each had a goal and an assist.

It was Lavino's second goal of the season, and Michaud thinks he may see a lot more offense from the senior defender.

"She may be the spark I am looking for," Michaud said. "She scored just a minute into the game and it was a great way to start. We had been practicing shots the day before, and she was great at it, and then she transferred it into the game."

Senior Meaghan Teehan also scored for the Lady Rams, the first goal of her career.

"She has come close before, so it was really great to see her finally get one," Michaud said. "She is one of those kids that works really hard, so it was nice to see her get rewarded."

Sophomore goalie Janina Kennedy of Tewksbury did not have to work too hard in this one to earn her eighth shutout of the season, but she has been sensational all year for the Lady Rams.

"Janina has played great this season," Michaud said. "We also have some very fast defenders this year which has helped her, but she has done a great job."

Junior Rachel McLaren of Wilmington was the other goal scorer for Shawsheen, giving her three tallies on the season.

Shawsheen will look to continue their winning ways when they take on a talented but injury depleted Notre Dame squad on Thursday, before they face a stiff challenge from non-league rival Lowell of the MVC on Columbus Day at Shawsheen.

"That will be a real measuring stick for us," Michaud said. "I am not sure how good their record is, but playing in the MVC they are facing a tough team in every game."

BOYS SOCCER

It was a rough week for the Shawsheen Boys Soccer team, as they went 0-1-1 in their two games against CAC rival Northeast and non-league rival North Middlesex, making their task of qualifying for the MIAA state tournament a little more difficult.

It was not so much the loss and the tie that hurts for the Rams, as it was the way the games played out, as Shawsheen had a chance to win against Northeast and get at least a tie against North Middlesex.

Against North Middlesex on Monday, the Rams fell victim to some bad luck in their 2-1 loss as they fell to their non-league foes, whom they had beaten 1-0 earlier in the season in a game where they dominated play.

Trailing 1-0 at the half, the Rams fell into a 2-0 deficit midway through the second half when a North Middlesex corner kick skimmed across the top of the crossbar of the Shawsheen net before falling in behind goalie James Gibb.

Joe Skronowski brought the Rams within 2-1 with 12 minutes left in the game off of a nice setup by T.J. Barriss, but it was not enough for Shawsheen as they saw their record fall to 5-5-3 with the loss.

"In the first half we were in control of the game, even though we were down 1-0, but in the second half the play was much more even," Shawsheen coach Dick Barriss said. "There were a lot of 50-50 balls that they got to instead of us. We have to win those one-on-one battles and we lost them in the second half."

While nothing is guaranteed of course, based on their last meeting with North Middlesex, as well as their opponents poor record headed into the game, Barriss was hoping or at least a tie.

"This one was tough to take," Barriss said. "We were hoping to get at least a point out of it and we played well enough to do it at some points in the game. This one hurt, but the one that could really come back to haunt us."

Indeed the Northeast game has the potential to hurt the Rams even more, and the way the game ended in a tie made it doubly tough to take for Barriss and his team, as they led 1-0 for much of the game before Northeast tied the game with 35 seconds left, leaving the Rams with one point for a tie, rather than a two point win.

Skronowski scored the Rams lone goal at the 33 minute mark of the first half, while Gibb made 13 saves.

The Rams have five games left in the season and need five point in those games to earn a post season berth. They begin their quest on the road against Minuteman on Friday before back to back matchups at home against CAC powers Lynn Tech and Chelsea next Tuesday and Wednesday.

GOLF

At the start of the season, having lost many key players off of last year's team, many believed that this could finally be the season that another team stepped up and broke the Rams string of eight consecutive league Colonial Athletic League championships.

But as another season draws to a close, the story in the CAL remains pretty much the same. With another league win this past week, over Northeast on Tuesday, along with a win over non-league rival Austin Prep last Thursday, the Rams improved to 12-4 overall on the season, while they stayed perfect in the CAL Large with a 9-0 mark and wrapped up their ninth straight league crown.

The win over Northeast sealed the league title for the Rams, as they earned a 177-188 victory in a match where they did not have their best day, but did enough to win thanks to the depth of their lineup.

Senior Remy Fletcher and junior Ryan Collins were Shawsheen's co-medalists, with each shooting a 43. A Northeast player took the overall medalist spot with a 41, but thanks to a 45 from junior Steve Ferreira and a 46 from both junior Ryan Olsen and senior Jake Russell, the Rams were able to secure the victory.

While the win over Northeast was the most critical for the Rams, as it secured the league title, even more impressive was their 166-173 win over Austin Prep last Thursday.

They had lost to Austin Prep on the road earlier in the season, but on their home course, the Patriot Golf Course in Bedford, the Rams gained a measure of revenge with an impressive victory.

Ferreira led the way for the Rams as the overall medalist with a 39, while Fletcher followed close behind with a 40 and Collins chipped in with a 42 and Scott Brown had a 43.

"What was great about that win was that we got four very good scores," Struthers said. "It was nice to see Steven shoot a 39 like that, and Collins is shooting lower and lower scores each time out as well. Both of those guys, along with Remy, have a chance to shoot a 38 or 39 every time out."

What was also nice for the Rams was picking up a win against a non-league foe. While it is always great to win the CAL, Struthers also likes to see his team measure itself against stronger none league teams.

"I think everybody is happy to beat a non-league team like that," Struthers said. "When you are playing against an opponent who is very good, it forces you to raise your level of play as well and our kids did that. It was probably one of our best wins of the season."

The Rams knew they would need a similar effort on Wednesday when they traveled to Ridder Farms in Whitman for the Massachusetts State Vocational Tournament. Results were not available as of press time, but the Rams have traditionally been very successful in the tournament, finishing second last year for the fifth time, while they have also won the tournament once.

Fletcher, Ferreira, Collins, Brown and senior Paul Rice will play in the tournament for the Rams, with the top four scores counting toward the team total.

"You never know what can happen," Struthers said. "I think we will play very well and hopefully we can win."

VOLLEYBALL

The Shawsheen Volleyball team went 2-1 this past week, improving their record to 5-6 on the season, as the picked up 3-0 wins over CAC foes Fellowship last Tuesday and Northeast last Thursday before dropping a tough 3-2 decision to another CAC rival Greater Lawrence last Friday.

In the win over Fellowship (25-9, 25-12, 25-9) the Lady Rams got 14 service points, four aces and six kills, from Emily Knoops of Tewksbury, while fellow Tewksbury resident Danielle Cacciola had 20 service points, six aces and 14 assists.

Kerin O'Hearn also had a strong game for Shawsheen with four aces and three kills.

On Thursday, the Lady Rams were equally impressive in their win over Northeast (25-11, 25-9, 25-10), where Cacciola once again led the way with 17 service points, five aces and nine assists.

"Danielle has been playing great for us. She is only a little over five feet tall, but we have her blocking shots in the middle," Shawsheen coach Chet Flynn said. "She is our quarterback out there and we want her to handle the ball as much as possible. Her tipping out front has been fantastic as well. She is doing a great job and she is a great leader as well."

When the Lady Rams were struggling along with a 2-5 record a couple of weeks ago, Flynn predicted that the best was still to come for his team. With three wins in their last four matches, including the two blowouts this week, it looks like they may be reaching the potential that Flynn saw for them, but he warns that there is still work to be done.

"I think we are getting close," Flynn said. "Both of those teams were fairly week, but we took care of business, and dominated from start to finish. But we still had some little inconsistencies that we need to improve on."

Those inconsistencies, as well as some bad luck, came back to haunt Shawsheen in their 3-2 loss (25-22, 20-25, 25-19, 18-25, 15-13) to Greater Lawrence.

Shawsheen lost Knoops in the first game of the match when she banged her head on the floor and left due to a possible concussion and in the fourth game they lost Cassie Melanson to an ankle injury.

"Having those two out made it so a lot of people had to play out of position or play more than we would normally ask them to," Flynn said. "But even with all those injuries, we started to rally in the fourth game and won big."

"But then in the fifth game we went up big, and then made some mistakes and all of a sudden the score was 9-8 and we ended up losing."

Shawsheen will host Lynn Tech on Thursday before taking on non-league foe St. Joseph's Academy on the road on Friday. They will face even stiffer challenges next week when they host Mystic Valley on Tuesday before taking to the road to take on Greater Lowell next Friday.

"I feel like we can play well enough to win and get to the tournament," Flynn said. "I think we should win both this week and then next week will be tough, but I think if we play well we will have a good chance of winning."

Pee Wee 3's win two games

The Wilmington Youth Hockey Association Pee Wee 3 team won back to back games over the weekend to rise to the top of their parity round division.

Matthew DiGennaro provided steady goaltending throughout, with Liam Prigmore and Justin Healey steady on defense. On Saturday the team traveled to Revere to take on Medford. Joseph Hartzell and Mark Miraglia rounded out the defensive corps and contributed some offense as well.

After Aidan Ryan got the scoring started for Wilmington, Joseph Hartzell took advantage of an opportunity to join the rush from the blue line and scored on a good pass from Aidan Ryan. Ryan Packer and Jonathan Bazile added first period goals as well, and the Wildcats were off and running.

In the second period, Ryan Regan added two goals for Wilmington to match the two goals that Medford managed. The third period was all Blue and White, with Joseph Hansen scoring with an assist from Joseph Hartzell, Jacob Fox adding a strike, and Jonathan Bazile getting a second goal. The final score was 9-2, with Wilmington getting goals from seven different players, and credited with eight assists.

Sunday morning was a different sort of game against Needham. Wilmington showed good discipline and didn't get careless in a tight game after the big romp on Saturday. The Wildcats shuffled the lineup, and the second forward line of Joseph Hartzell centering Jacob Fox and Brendan Kelley came together on a three passes play with Kelley scoring the goal and both line mates earning assists.

Needham promptly scored to tie the game, but just as quickly, Ryan Regan was able to grab a loose puck and score unassisted for Wilmington, which closed out the game at 2-1.

Squirt 3's

The Wilmington Squirt 3's had a busy but successful weekend as they played two games and beat their opponents by a combined score of 14-0.

The Wildcats started their weekend on Saturday morning in Lawrence against Andover and got going right away with Jake Chirichiello scoring just a minute and thirty seconds in the game. This would not be the last time Chirichiello's name would be called as he scored again halfway through the first to make it 2-0.

But this was not just a one-man show as Braydan Sanborn and William O'Shea showed pinpoint accuracy with their passing. Aydan Churchill consistently won faceoffs throughout the game helping the offensive fireworks.

The Wildcats were just warming up as Aidan Murphy scored his first goal of the season on a rebound of Gates shot only 15 seconds into the second period. Jake Chirichiello got his third and fourth goals to close out the scoring in the period.

Although offense grabs the headlines, the defense has been a hallmark of the team early on. Not only are they playing a two-way game, but the defenders have been playing a layered wall in front of goalie Justin Finnegan. Brady Robbins continually got back on defense but still got an assist. Finnegan continues to impress and showed quick reflexes stopping a breakaway late in the 2nd and Owen Mitchell was quick to clean out any rebounds that might pop out.

In the third it was more of the same as Murphy got his second goal of the game on an assist from Anthony Savage and Michael Sullivan got his first goal of the season. Final score Wildcats 7, Andover 0.

Game two took place on Sunday in Woburn against Lynnfield/Saugus. Colin Gates started the scoring on steal and put home a blistering shot that found the back of the net. Just under two minutes later Chirichiello dished a nifty backhand to Sanborn out front to make the score 2-0. Again Finnegan came up big as he stopped a bullet on a breakout.

Sanborn scored his second goal of the season just over 2 minutes into the second period to make it 3-0. A short time later Thomas Dalton pushed the puck up from his defensive position to make it 4-0 after two. The team continues to gel with unselfish play as evidenced by Churchill's ability to distribute the puck and Sullivan delivering tape-to-tape passes to his teammates. The lead could have been greater as Savage hit the post at least twice.

In the third Gates scored again just 18 seconds in on a feed from Dalton. Just a minute later Chirichiello went top shelf on a breakaway. Defense again came up big as O'Shea showed his speed in moving the puck out Wilmington's end. Robbins continues to work in the corners and brings a football mentality to his position. Mitchell had the play of the game when prevented a potential goal by getting his body into the L/S skater and stopping a breakaway.

Finally, Murphy ended the weekend with a dirty goal and assist from Gates as Wilmington prevailed again 7-0.

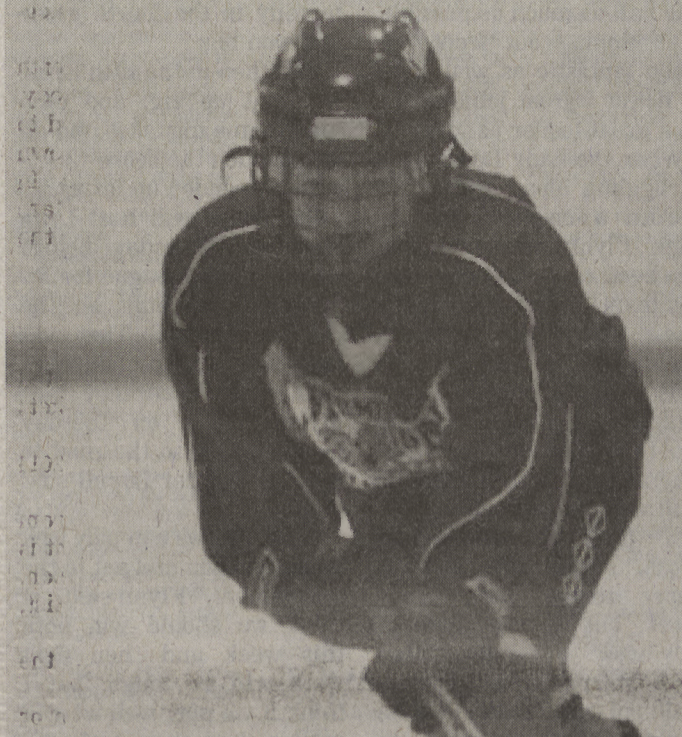

Mite X1

The Wilmington Wildcat Mite X1 team continued their quest to become NHL caliber players as they faced off against Newburyport at the Breakaway Ice Center in Tewksbury late Saturday morning. Gavin Russell led his squad onto the ice and was between the pipes for the Wildcats.

The Cats must have felt like Newburyport was playing a brick wall in goal as they dominated play but struggled through the first 20 minutes to find the back of the net. Darion Considine and Zach Mackiel were beasts at both ends, but were unable to light the lamp. Brennan Walsh dinged one off the post and put another into the goalkeeper's glove while Stephen Constantine was robbed on multiple occasions after leaving several defenders in the dust.

Kyle Gray set up several of his teammates, and fired on net repeatedly, but to no avail. Aiden Guyette had a strong two-way performance and came ever so close to putting one in, as did Maddie Sainato who helped the Wildcats control play through much of the middle portion of the contest.

The scoring drought was finally broken when Nicolas D'Amico took a rebound off of a Russell save end to end, finishing with a highlight film backhand shot for the first of his two goals. Nathan Caples' first scoring blast of the season quickly followed. Patrick Hounsell added to the late offensive barrage with two goals of his own while Zack Giardina rounded out the scoring to keep his multiple game scoring streak intact.

The Chicago Fire was also impressive on the offensive side of the ball with great skill being displayed by Skylar Driscoll and Isabella Iascone leading to goals by Kiley Bloom, Kimberly Kane and Alexandra Malley.

The defense was also showing their skills today with Ivone Airoso and Sarah Sampson keeping the ball out of their zone for much of the game.

Girls Grade 2

Chivas USA

World Cup Worthy Competitors Jessie Martinson, Avis Samaha, and Alison Doherty scored for the Chivas USA in their hard fought game against the Colorado Rapids.

For Chivas, Emma Diorio and Julia Archer added the offensive punch while Carly Thayer and Adrienne Moore held up the defense. It was an outstanding team effort capped off with great goal keeping by Emily Doherty, Avis Samaha, Madison Hudgins and Cheyenne Marchese.

Chicago Fire

Top notch play kept people watching this game. For the Fire - excellent offensive plays by Lily Mackenzie, Hannah Bryson, Alex Lavigne and Riley Rourke resulted in heavy pressure -- causing the Columbus Crew to back pedal.

Defensive positioning by Jaelyn Walsh, Lauryn Parr and Priscilla Nguyen fended off any threat that came thru making it tough for their opponent. Kelci Mackenzie and Arianna Farrell also played a great game in net - keeping the game in hand.

Boys Grade 1

Red Bulls

In one of their more epic performances, the NY Red Bulls' Nicolas Juliano, Brennan Walsh, and Casey Lanagan stayed on their toes creating many scoring opportunities throughout this back and forth game. Walsh was able to squeeze in a couple of goals for the Red Bulls in this back and forth match.

The play of Cam Jenks and Justin Bevis shut down the other end of the field on defense that set the tone for this game.

Rapids

In the other marquee game of the week, the crowd was kept on the edge of their seats as the Rapids, led by the offensive skills of Corey Taylor, Kyle McDonald and Jacob Tucker, resulted in scoring opportunities by Jack Bourque. The defense was not to be left out of this one either as Luka Skorput, Joe Gronemeyer and Kokoro Shinohara kept the ball out of their zone for much of the game.

Chicago Fire:

Not to be overlooked, this past weekend the Chicago Fire started off strong with great offensive pressure created by Damian Carbone and Terry Ding. Lincoln Levesque and Ryan Muise led the team's scoring charge with great individual dribbling efforts. Gavin King and John Pozzi anchored the defense by keeping the ball out of the Fire's end most of the game.

Boys Grade 2

Colorado Rapids vs. Chivas USA

The air crackled with excitement this past weekend as the much-anticipated match between the Colorado Rapids and the Chivas USA squad commenced. Fantastic ball skills were displayed by Michael Lawler, Ryan Murphy and Kyle Spinney resulting in goals by Noah Spencer, Zach Blonigen and Joshua Haerer.

The midfield and defensive play of James Bimbo, Jake Bourgeois, Eric Spinney and Daniel Griffin kept the Rapids in excellent shape. The crowd roared to their feet when Aiden Burke and Joshua Haerer made some spectacular saves.

Chivas USA would not back down from this back and forth match. Goals by Michael McCarthy, Ethan Kennedy, Jonathon Chisholm, and Ryan Copson brought the crowd to a frenzy. A spectacular display of defensive skills was shown by Ryan Sweeney, Evan Johnson, and Ryan Papineau. In addition the midfield play of Antonio Smolinsky, Marc Vanella, and Daniel McElligott kept constant pressure on the opponents net.

Winchester's 'Captain Phillips' hits the big screen

'CAPTAIN PHILLIPS' OPENS THIS WEEKEND - The film stars Tom Hanks, left, who plays the real-life Capt. Richard Phillips of Winchester, right, - its a 'highly fictionalized' account of what really happened. 'Captain Phillips' will debut locally at AMC Theatre in Burlington at 7 p.m. Friday night.

Richard Phillips is a '73 graduate of Winchester High School

By PAUL FEELY

The pirates were armed with AK-47s. The captain had his wits.

If it sounds like the tagline for a movie, it is - the story of cargo ship captain Richard Phillips's real life experience of survival after being captured by desperate Somali pirates.

The trailers for "Captain Phillips", which features Tom Hanks playing Phillips and opens later this week at theaters nationwide (including Loews Theaters in Burlington and Showcase Cinemas in Woburn), show how unbelievable the ordeal that happened just four years ago on the high seas really was - and what the real Capt. Phillips had to do to not only survive, but to also save his crew.

Phillips, a 1973 Winchester High School graduate, got a rousing standing ovation after he addressed a packed theater in Vermont last week, where the movie held its premiere (he now resides in the Green Mountain State).

Phillips said in a published interview that the premiere gave him a chance to say thank you to members of the military that rescued him.

"The military, they are the true heroes in my story," said Phillips, who was introduced at the premiere by former Gov. Jim Douglas.

Hanks plays Phillips in director Paul Greengrass' docudrama, adapted from the captain's memoir about the April 2009 hijacking. The actor kept Phillips' beard and eyeglasses in the movie, and attempts to pull off a New England accent.

Phillips spent five days as a hostage of Somali pirates on a lifeboat after the Maersk Alabama was hijacked. He was beaten, tied up and threatened before he was rescued days later by U.S. Navy SEALs, who shot three of the pirates.

Before the screening, he said he never felt empathy for the Somali pirates.

"That never entered my mind," Phillips said in an interview. "We were always adversaries. I thought it was important to make sure we both knew we were adversaries in that. I thought that was important for me and my survival. There was no Stockholm syndrome."

It's a bad scenario that the ship's captain and crew had prepared for - in fact, they had run a drill just a day prior.

Some quick thinking helped avoid some horrific outcomes: The crew disabled the ship's systems, blocking any chance the Somalis could drive the ship away. Some 14 crew members were stowed away in a safe room - their whereabouts hidden from the pirates.

Eventually negotiations between the remaining crew members and the pirates went nowhere. Capt. Phillips sprung into action, offering himself up as a hostage in order to save his remaining team. The pirates took him at gunpoint and they exited the ship, 30 miles off the Somali coast, inside a small, orange submarine-shaped lifeboat.

It was a tense four days Phillips and the pirates spent inside the tiny confines of the 18-foot lifeboat. And it got violent.

"They took me aboard and they were not happy. Punches and slaps to the head, hitting me with their pistol and their gun," Phillips has said. "If I gave up I'd be a hostage, just something they could ransom or murder. If I didn't give up, I could play mind games with them as they were playing with me."

While Phillips kept playing mental chess to stay alive, Navy SEAL snipers were locked into position, ready to take out the Somalis. But they didn't have clearance from the White House to do so.

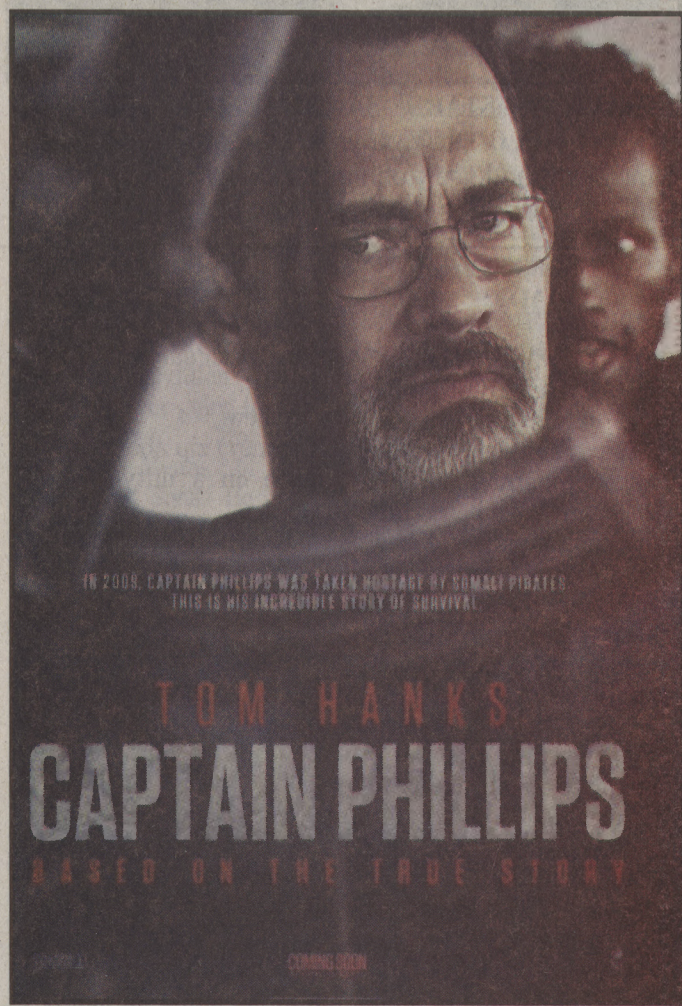

Eventually, after the pirates made repeated threats to negotiators that they intended to kill Phillips, the three remaining Somalis on board the lifeboat were killed by the SEALs and the captain was rescued. A fourth member of the raiding party surrendered.

President Barack Obama, who spoke with Captain Phillips by phone after he was freed, said, "I share the country's admiration for the bravery of Captain Phillips and his selfless concern for his crew. His courage is a model for all Americans."

But Phillips was quick to deflect the glory, saying, "The real heroes are the Navy, the SEALs, those who have brought me home."

In a recent interview published in Parade Magazine, Hanks and Capt. Phillips discussed when they first met.

"I went up to his house in Vermont, it must have been

Movie Reviews

"Gravity"

by Paul Feely

"GRAVITY" STARS SANDRA BULLOCK AND GEORGE CLOONEY. It is a true exercise in visual filmmaking and storytelling. The story is simple but it fulfills the promises 3-D technology offers.

"GRAVITY"
GRADE: ****

On the whole, American audiences have been lukewarm on live-action 3-D movies since "Avatar" changed the film industry in 2009. There have been some significant successes, however, and they seem to come when directors with a proven track record take up the new technology and push the envelope.

Martin Scorsese's "Hugo," for instance, was an example. A year ago, Ang Lee released his adaptation of "Life of Pi," a film that truly benefited by being watched in 3-D. And now we have "Gravity," the new movie from director Alfonso Cuarón, which is easily the best use of the 3-D technology to date.

Based on the trailers or commercials, you might be inclined to think of "Gravity" as a George Clooney movie, or a Sandra Bullock film. And yes, the two of them are in it - in truth, they're truly the only actors who make appearances - but it's best to think of this as a Cuarón film, because it is a true exercise in visual filmmaking and storytelling.

Virtually the entire movie takes place in outer space, and it is stunningly exquisite, probably the most groundbreaking outer-space movie since Kubrick's "2001: A Space Odyssey," though you shouldn't expect the same sorts of insights into the human condition.

From a storytelling perspective, "Gravity" is actually quite simple. When the movie opens, we are far above the earth, watching shuttle commander Matthew Kowalski (Clooney) zip about in outer space on a nifty new jet-pack. This is his last trip into space, and he's supervising his final spacewalk, which finds Dr. Ryan Stone (Bullock) trying hard to replace a broken piece of machinery. One moment, all is clear skies and gorgeous views. The next, pieces of a decimated Soviet satellite are speeding toward them unfettered by the property the film bears as its title, causing immense damage and forcing Stone and Kowalski to do anything possible to survive.

That description barely does "Gravity" justice. Cuarón uses the advances in CGI and 3-D technology to create an adventure that's staggering to watch and shockingly immersive.

The setting allows him to surround his characters and to see what they're doing and what's happening to them from angles that are simply astounding. It's a movie that manages to capture the beauty and epic emptiness of space one moment, and the terrifying claustrophobia of being in a spacesuit and floating out of control the next.

If "Gravity" has a flaw, it's that the technical filmmaking overshadows the movie's human elements. That cannot be overlooked, but Cuarón has addressed it by casting two of the most charming individuals of our time. Clooney, you won't be surprised to learn, is exactly what we want in an astronaut - charming, brave, good-looking and selfless. And despite Bullock's Oscar win for playing against type in the 2009 movie "The Blind Side," this is the best work she has ever done, which is significant considering she does almost all of it in front of a green screen.

Objects in motion are destined to continue that motion unless an outside force is applied to them. "Gravity" is at its best when it is moving, which it does for most of its brief 90-minute running time. Cuarón fulfills the promise of 3-D technology. Cinematically, "Gravity" takes a giant leap.

"RUSH"
GRADE: ***

Rush is first and foremost a tale of two very different men and how they run their lives. That James Hunt (played by Chris Hemsworth) and Niki Lauda (Daniel Bruhl) are Formula 1 race car drivers and fierce rivals gives director Ron Howard's high-speed character study a license to pull out all the stops in the thrills-on-wheels department - and he does. The racing action is fast and furious, with a minimum of special-effect trickery.

But screenwriter Peter Morgan's dramatization of the real-life Hunt and Lauda's exploits on European and American road-race courses in the 1970s isn't content to merely drop a few dialogue scenes in between the automotive sequences. We get a nifty, character-filled portrait of the times, a close look at sportsmen in a slightly more candid, less completely commercialized era of competition.

Englishman Hunt, a lion-maned, ostentatiously raffish pretty boy who obviously enjoys racing for the hell of it, always looks as if he's on his way to a party - which he usually is. Surrounded by a clique of admirers - including his aristocratic backer, Alexander Lord Hesketh (Christian McKay) - impetuous Hunt can't resist a flute of champagne and a few tokes of reefer before climbing into the cockpit. Women find him completely irresistible. And the actual Hunt - who died of a heart attack in 1993 at age 45 - is a pretty good facsimile of Australian heartthrob Hemsworth (The Avengers, Thor). They're both matinee idols built for swash-buckling. Professionally, Hunt's challenge is to find a racing team to match his derring-do, preferably someone like international model Suzy Miller (Olivia Wilde), his jet-setting new wife. And then to win lots of large silver cups.

For Niki Lauda, rebellious son of a conservative family of Austrian bankers, those rock-star antics are a waste of precious energy. Lauda's engineering talent is superb. As played by Spanish-German character actor Bruhl (Inglourious Basterds, The Bourne Ultimatum), he's a detail-oriented control freak, but it's hard for people to warm up to him and he knows it. Niki meets his future wife, Marlene Knaus (Alexandra Maria Lara), on the road in Italy. He has just abruptly exited a party, and she's the fed-up ex-girlfriend of a movie star. He bumps a ride with her, her car breaks down, and when the two Italian guys who stop to help them recognize Niki as the new driver for Ferrari, he impresses everyone with his road-handling skills.

The two men's battle for the 1976 F1 championship forms the background for most of the movie, from Watkins Glen to Brazil to Monza to the Japanese GP in the shadow of Mount Fuji, in the pouring rain.

The film is fast-paced, and the actors keep pace with their vehicles and the push the excitement pedal to the metal. It's a winner.

Ghoulish fun this Thursday

Gravestone Girls offer a "spooktacular" evening

October is the month for ghosts and goblins. With that in mind, the Stoneham Historical Society is pleased to host "The Gravestone Girls" for the October monthly meeting. The general public is invited to this "spooktacular" presentation on Thursday, October 10th.

All the ghoulish fun takes place at the Historical Society Meeting Hall and Museum located at 36 William Street, Stoneham (across from the historic - perhaps haunted- brick school building). Doors open (to all who dare to come) at 6:45 to enjoy the many exhibits. There will be a short business meeting beginning at 7:15 followed by the special guest speakers.

Everyday is Halloween for "The Gravestone Girls" (Maggie White and Brenda Sullivan) who have been working together since they were children. Their mission is to educate people on the history, beauty, art and ancestry of the markers. Stoneham is very fortunate to have many great examples of gravestones that remind us of our rich historical legacy. All will walk away from this presentation with a greater appreciation of and respect for our cemeteries and the stories that lie within.

Earlier in the month, the annual Open House showcased local artifacts as well as the featured exhibit entitled, "Remembering the Corner Store". In the days prior to Redstone Shopping Center, there were at least 10 neighborhood stores. Fond memories of Fortini's Market on the corner of Elm and Washington St come to mind and/or former residents.

The Stoneham Historical Society is a nonprofit organization dedicated to "Pride in our past; faith in our future" since 1922. Persons with questions about membership, upcoming programs, our collection, to volunteer or schedule research or anything else are urged to visit our website at www.stonehamhistory.webs.com <<http://www.stonehamhistory.webs.com>> or phone 781-832-2196.

'TRI,' TRY AGAIN (STONEHAM)

"Jeopardizing the entire project, two encroachers on the future site of the Tri-Community Bikepath accomplished little to nothing to remove illegal debris from railroad tracks on Manison Street near I-93 and the Woburn line, the Board of Selectmen was told," notes the "Stoneham Independent."

"In response to the update, the Selectmen agreed to ask both property owners to its next meeting (scheduled for October 8) for an explanation. Town Counsel William Solomon also indicated that now might be the time to begin discussing possible litigation against the businesses.

"According to Dolly Wilson, a member of the town's Bike and Greenway Committee, commercial property owners E.B. Rotondi & Sons and the Halchak Corporation have done next to nothing to remove hundreds of yards of fill containing construction materials from the railroad right-of-way where the bike path is envisioned to begin snaking into Woburn, where it will then connect with land in Winchester.

"We have made some progress, but not as much as we would have liked. Mr. Rotondi has removed 30 to 40 percent of the fill; however, he has since moved away his equipment," said Wilson. "Mr. Halchak has removed maybe a foot of fill, not even to the area he agreed to [move it to]."

"...legal representatives for both Halchak and Rotondi vowed at another Selectmen's meeting to work with local officials to remove the debris and fully cooperate with town officials and representatives from the MBTA — the owners of the land — to ensure the job was done to satisfaction.

"However, news that the bulk of the fill had yet to be removed was of little surprise to some audience members, who along with other bikeway proponents, have battled for years with the businessmen to get them to restore the land to its original condition.

"He's never going to do it," said Town Moderator Lawrence Means of E.B. Rotondi and Sons. "He hasn't removed any of it. I walked out to the property today. He just spread a ton of it out all over the place. One of the piles, which is bigger than this room, is probably six-feet high...."

"...The Selectmen heard the update on the businessmen's progress just hours after being warned by State Senator Katherine Clark (D-Melrose) and State Representative Jason Lewis (D-Winchester) that the town stood to lose $5.5 million in state and federal funding for the greenway, should the railroad tracks remain unclear.

"There's a long list of bikeway and roadway projects [waiting behind Stoneham, Winchester, and Woburn]. We don't want to do anything to jeopardize that project," Clark forewarned...."

UP AND AWARE (TEWKSBURY)

"The Board of Selectmen... reviewed the Special Town Meeting warrant and recommended most of the articles. Article 1 was tabled, as was Article 11. The Board deferred Articles 23 and 24 to the Planning Board, and they took no action on Article 25," notes the Tewksbury "Town Crier."

In other Tewksbury updates, "Tewksbury Police Chief Tim Sheehan has asked that the town will utilize the week of October 20 to promote Drug Awareness."

This is the first year of the drug unit.

Tewksbury residents are also excited about two events: a farmers' market and the annual Christmas celebration.

LIGHTS, CAMERA, OPEN, HOUSE (READING)

"The Reading Municipal Light Department (RMLD) is celebrating National Public Power Week, October 7-11, along with more than 2,000 other electric utilities across the country that collectively provide electricity on a not-for-profit basis to 47 million Americans," notes the Reading edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"On Thursday, October 10, from 2-5 p.m., RMLD will host an Open House for its customers in its operations garage at 226 Ash St., Reading...."

MIDDLESEX EAST SPORTS WEEKLY TRIVIA:

Michael Phelps is the all-time leader in Olympic medals won with a total of 22. The next three athletes on the list are from the Soviet Union and competed in what sport?.

Answer appears elsewhere in this column.

The Stonehill College women's cross country team, ranked 21st in the latest U.S. Track & Field and Cross Country Coaches Association (USTFCCA) Division II poll, and ranked first in the East Region, earned a first-place finish at the 33rd Annual Codfish Bowl held at Franklin Park.

Senior captain Chelsea Bishop (Suffield, Conn./Suffield), who was Stonehill's top finisher at the DII Challenge two weeks ago, accomplished the same feat today, finishing third overall with a time of 18:45. Senior Elizabeth LaRegina (New Fairfield, Conn./New Fairfield), who won the Shacklette Invitational earlier this season, finished two spots behind Bishop in 19:10. Stonehill runners occupied the next three spots as well, with junior Emily Anderson (Manchester, Conn./Manchester) coming in sixth with a time of 19:22, senior Emily Regan (Hanson, Mass./Whitman-Hanson) finishing seventh in 19:30, and JUNIOR ERIN RIELLY (BURLINGTON, MASS./BURLINGTON) placing eighth with a 19:34 mark.

Stonehill won the Codfish Bowl with a total of 29 points, well ahead of the second place team, Merrimack College (102 points). Rounding out the top five were Smith College (105 points), Greater Boston TC (108 points), and St. Thomas Aquinas (129 points). The Skyhawks have now won two of the three meets that they have competed in this year; the other being the Shacklette Invitational.

Stonehill College held its 25th annual Athletics Hall of Fame induction ceremony, in conjunction with Family Weekend at the College in the Joseph W. Martin Institute Auditorium on October 1.

Stonehill welcomed former student-athletes Erin Accone, '06, from the women's lacrosse team, Kristen McDonnell, '03, from the women's basketball program and Rich Scafati, '88, from the men's soccer program as well as former football head coach Vern Laws and the 2000 Baseball Team in its Athletics Hall of Fame. With its five new Hall of Fame members, Stonehill's total inductees since the first ceremony in 1989 have increased to 125.

UNION COLLEGE MEN'S SOCCER SENIOR FORWARD DEAN CONSTANT (WINCHESTER) earned Liberty League Offensive Performer of the Week honors for his performances during the week of September 16.

Constant recorded two game-winning goals and two assists for a six-point week in the Dutchmen's two wins over Sage and SUNY Canton this past week. He helped the Dutchmen remain unbeaten and improve their record to 6-0-1.

Constant's two goals were both in dramatic fashion. He scored the first with less than five minutes remaining in the second half to give the Dutchmen the 2-1 win over Sage. Then, after assisting on two first half goals, Constant headed a corner kick into the back of the net only 1:54 into the first overtime at SUNY Canton. The goal gave the Dutchmen the 3-2 win.

Constant now leads the Dutchmen in assists (5) and is tied for the team lead in points (11) on the season. He also joins teammate Ryan Carter as members of the team to be honored by the Liberty League this season.

Italian Rustic Chicken Roulade with Tomato Petals

A dish that is described as "Rustic Italian Chicken Roulade with Shredded Parmesan, Capers and Tomato Petals" could seem intimidating. This dish courtesy of Mary Poehnelt, a cook at Ming Tsai's Blue Ginger restaurant as well as a finalist on FOX's Hell's Kitchen with Gordon Ramsey, is anything but complicated.

Mary teaches you how to easily butterfly chicken and prepare a zesty filling for a light and healthy roulade. With less than five ingredients and under 30 minutes, this dish will turn any home cook into a gourmet chef.

INSTRUCTIONS

Cut the tomatoes in small wedge-like slices, and remove the seeds. (creating tomato petals).

Add the tomatoes to the bowl filled with shredded Parmesan cheese.

Thinly slice the garlic and add to bowl.

Add the capers and lemon zest (thinly sliced).

Butterfly the chicken breast, and open it up. Season well on both sides.

Put in lemon juice and gently mix together, making a filling.

Place the filling in the chicken breast and roll together.

On high heat, sear the chicken roulade on all sides, for 2 minutes on each side.

Preheat the oven to 350 degrees. Put the remaining of the filling on top, and place the roulade in the oven for 20-30 minutes, or until done.

Ingredients

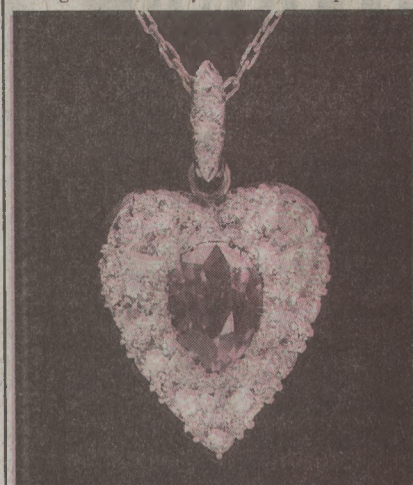

- 2 Chicken Breast Cutlets
- 2 Roma Tomatoes
- 1/2 cup Shredded Parmesan
- 1/4 cup Capers
- 2 cloves garlic
- 1 tablespoon Lemon Zest
- 1 tablespoon Lemon Juice
- 1/4 teaspoon Sea Salt (or to taste)
- 1/4 teaspoon Pepper (or to taste)

Tsongas Center at UMass Lowell Meryl Streep to speak at UMass Lowell

Meryl Streep, considered by many to be the greatest actress of this generation, will speak at UMass Lowell in the latest installment of the Chancellor's Speaker Series.

Streep, an Academy Award winner whose acting career has spanned five decades and more than 100 roles, will take the stage at the Tsongas Center at UMass Lowell on Wednesday, Feb. 5, 2014. Details on the program and tickets, which will be available to the public as well as the university community, will be announced at a later date. Check www.uml.edu/streep for updates.

The UMass Lowell Chancellor's Speaker Series was launched last December with "A Conversation with Stephen King," which drew a capacity crowd of more than 3,000 people to see the author in a rare personal appearance. As with the King event, Streep's program will be a benefit for student scholarships. It is co-sponsored by the UMass Lowell English Department's Theatre Arts Program and the College of Fine Arts, Humanities and Social Sciences.

"We are grateful to have someone of Meryl Streep's stature as the next participant in the UMass Lowell Chancellor's Speaker Series, which brings people at the top of their fields to the university to speak to students and the community while helping to raise funds for scholarships," said Chancellor Marty Meehan.

Since her debut in a 1977 TV movie, Streep — who holds the record for the most Academy Award and Golden Globe Award acting nominations — has established herself as one of the most prolific actresses in history, appearing in more than 50 films, as well as numerous stage productions. One of her trademarks has been portraying real people, from British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher in "Iron Lady" to French chef Julia Child in "Julie and Julia" to whistleblower Karen Silkwood in "Silkwood." She is also known for her perfectionism in preparing for roles, learning to play the violin and mastering countless dialects and accents.

Her many other notable movies include "The Deer Hunter" and "Kramer vs. Kramer" in the 1970s, "The French Lieutenant's Woman" and "Sophie's Choice" in the 1980s, "Postcards from the Edge" and "The Bridges of Madison County" in the 1990s and "Adaptation," "The Devil Wears Prada" and "Mamma Mia!" in the 2000s.

Streep continues to add to her credits, with three new films in production, including the screen adaptation of the Stephen Sondheim musical "Into the Woods," and a fourth that will be in theaters later this year.

Streep has been recognized with acting's top honors, including three Oscars, eight Golden Globes (also a record), two Emmys, two and Screen Actors Guild Awards.

The early warning signs of Alzheimer's disease

Alzheimer's disease is the most common form of dementia. It is a progressive, degenerative disorder that attacks neurons and essentially robs people of their memory and language skills. Although there is no cure for Alzheimer's, there are therapies that can slow its neurological impact. Recognizing the early warning signs of Alzheimer's can encourage people to begin treatments that can stave off some of the more debilitating symptoms of this disease.

Though it's most common among the elderly, Alzheimer's is not a normal part of aging. The Mayo Clinic says that the reasons behind the inception and progression of Alzheimer's disease are largely unknown. It is believed damage starts a decade or more before problems become evident. Abnormal deposits of proteins begin to form the amyloid plaques and tau tangles throughout the brain, and these formations are the hallmarks of the disease. Once healthy neurons gradually begin to lose their efficiency and ability to function and communicate with one another. As more neurons die, entire areas of the brain shrink. The hippocampus, which is the area of the brain essential in forming memories, may soon become compromised.

Millions of people in North America are estimated to have Alzheimer's disease and many others will be diagnosed. The following are the most common early signs and symptoms of the disease.

* Memory loss: According to the Alzheimer's Organization, early memory loss can include forgetting important dates or repeatedly asking for the same information. Forgetting recently learned information and having to rely increasingly on memory aids is another potential indicator of Alzheimer's.

* Declining cognition: Impaired reasoning or judgment, trouble finding the right words and visual and spatial issues also may be early indicators of Alzheimer's.

* Difficulty completing familiar tasks: Those with Alzheimer's sometimes have trouble driving to a familiar location or remembering the rules to a favorite game. People who were once good with numbers may now have difficulty balancing their checkbooks, while those who love to cook may have trouble following recipes.

* Time confusion: Another indicator of Alzheimer's disease is losing track of time. One may have trouble understanding something that isn't happening in the present. Alzheimer's sufferers often forget where they are and how they got there.

* Misplacing items: Everyone loses something at a point in time, but those with Alzheimer's may put items in unusual places. They may sometimes accuse others of stealing when they cannot retrace their steps and find items.

- Captain from S-1
- March 2012," said Hanks. "I asked him about his first go-round of being a celebrity, the world tour he had to make upon his rescue. And, you know, "How do you be a captain of a ship?" The standard [answer] takes in the romance of the sea; every now and again you stare at the horizon and breathe in deeply. But if you did that on the Maersk Alabama, you'd essentially get diesel fumes. So [this role] was more about portraying the pressure-filled, workaday aspect of getting goods to port."
- "A team of guys working together with the same purpose, that's basically what it is," said Phillips.
- Hanks said he knew when he heard the story on the news that Capt. Phillips' tale would likely some day become a movie.
- "Here's what I always think: 'Will this have to be blown out of proportion to make it a movie? Or can we adhere to the behavior as it really went down?' An example would be Apollo 13. The movie added a bit of baloney, but not much. No bad guys were added; no spies were put in."
- "No chase scenes," said Phillips.
- In the same interview, Phillips says he doesn't view himself as a hero.
- "Oh, for me, it was my job," said Phillips. "You take the paycheck, you do the job. As captain, you get all the blame, pretty much, and in this situation all the recognition, when it was 19 of my crew who were involved in it also. I've been more scared on ships. I've had a fire in the engine room where I thought I had dead engineers. I've been through hurricanes. I mean, I feel glad that I didn't lose any of my crew [on the Maersk Alabama]."
- Captain Richard Phillips is the author of A Captain's Duty: Somali Pirates, Navy SEALs, and
- Dangerous Days at Sea, about his experience and his remarkable rescue, which the film is based on. He is a graduate of the Massachusetts Maritime Academy a member of the International Organization of Masters, Mates & Pilots Union, and a licensed American merchant mariner. He became Captain of the MV Maersk Alabama in 2009. Captain Phillips married Andrea Coggio in 1987. They have two children, Mariah and Danny and reside in Underhill, Vermont.
- He graduated from Winchester H.S. in 1973 and is the son of James Austin Phillips and Virginia Marie Shattuck.

Plenty of natural light washes into the living room through wide windows on two sides. The ceiling flattens and drops to eight feet as the space flows into the dining room and kitchen.

Working at the kitchen sink, you have a view to the rear though windows that fill the back corner. Potted plants can't help but flourish in the bright triangle of space that fronts the sink. Meals and snacks can be served up directly from the cook top to the eating bar with no wasted steps. This counter also doubles as a buffet for the dining area.

A roomy pantry adds to the storage space, and laundry appliances are nearby, in a good-sized utility room that links directly to the garage.

The owners' suite has a private bathroom plus a large walk-in closet with built-in shelves in one corner. Additional shelving rims the walls, extending over the long rods.

Double doors open into the Karsten's front bedroom, or den. This space could also be used as a home office.

How to keep your garage work space safe

Auto enthusiasts often find their garage is a sanctuary where they can go and think about their vehicles and little else. Similar to a carpenter's workshop or a gardener's backyard, a garage can be a place where auto enthusiasts unwind as they pursue their passions for automobiles.

But no garage is a true sanctuary if it is not safe, and the following are a few ways auto enthusiasts can ensure their work space is safe and sound.

* Keep an adequately stocked first aid kit on hand. An accessible first aid kit can be the difference between a minor injury or a significant health issue. Make sure the first aid kit is easily accessible, ideally on a low shelf that you can reach should you suffer an injury that limits your mobility. Periodically restock your first aid kit with necessary supplies.

* Post the national Poison Control Hotline number in plain view. That number is 1-800-222-1222 in the United States, and varies from province to province in Canada.

* Always bring your cell phone with you when working in your workshop. Though it might seem like a good idea to escape from life's distractions and leave your cell phone inside when working on your vehicle, that cell phone may be your only way to contact the outside world should you suffer an injury. You don't have to answer the phone when it rings, but be sure to bring it with you as a safety precaution whenever you will be working alone in the garage.

* Install a functioning fire extinguisher in your garage, and learn how to use it. Be sure to periodically check the extinguisher's expiration date and make sure it's easily accessible.

* Keep hazardous materials out of the reach of children. Read the labels on products. Items whose labels include warnings and cautions or suggest products can be poisonous if or when they are ingested should be stored where kids cannot reach them. If necessary, store them in a cabinet that can be locked.

Simple Karsten features a broad covered porch

A parade of tapered Craftsman columns creates a colonnade effect while highlighting an inviting covered porch that wraps around two sides of the Karsten. It's spacious enough for dining, and great for simply relaxing in the afternoon breezes.

This compact Craftsman-style, single-level plan could be built as a get-away cabin, but it is equally well-suited for use as a year-round residence. Gathering spaces fill the left side; bedrooms (or two bedrooms and a den) are on the right.

Entering, you step into a bright and spacious, vaulted living room. A coat closet is tucked into an alcove just around the corner to the right.
